Democrats Challenge Contention That $80.9 Billion Blue Print Will Provide Enough for Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic leaders predicted today that the incoming Kennedy administration would ask substantial revisions in President Eisenhower's budget.

In view of the lagging economy, some Democrats challenged Eisenhower's contention that his $80.9 billion financial blue print submitted to Congress Monday would provide enough income for a $1.5-billion surplus in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Republicans generally defended the Eisenhower estimates. But some of them were critical of the Place to Start

Byrd said that in view of the U.S. deficit in foreign payments balances "foreign aid would be a place to start cutting the budget."

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said he believes some downward revisions are in order in the overseas aid program. He has supported the program in the past.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., an avowed conservative who has called for an end to economic aid, said he was amazed that Eisenhower would propose an increase of $350 million in foreign aid.

"We have got to give a little more concern to our own economy," he said.

U. S., Canada Sign Columbia Pact Today

Two Nations Will Develop Vast River Resources

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Canadian Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker sign a treaty today for cooperative U.S.-Canadian development of vast resources of the Columbia River.

Diefenbaker flew from Ottawa Monday night for the signing and lunch at the White House.

Diefenbaker hailed the treaty as an example of international cooperation which the world should follow. Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana predicted the pact may sail through on a unanimous vote when the Senate gets around to voting on it.

Benefit Millions

The treaty, whose exact terms were kept secret in advance of signing, would seal terms drawn up during two years of joint study and negotiations.

The negotiators agreed on a compact of at least 60 years aimed at cooperatively developing the basin of the Columbia River for the benefit of millions of people on both sides of the border.

The river, which flows into the Pacific between Washington and Oregon, has a drainage area of 219,500 square miles in northwestern America and 39,500 square miles in British Columbia.

The project envisions greater flood control, electric power and conservation than possible if each nation acted separately. The initial boost in low-cost power for the United States was figured at 1,680,000 kilowatts, comparable to the Grand Coulee Dam's output. Canada would get 763,000 kilowatts.

Initial Gains

These initial gains would be brought about by Canada's building within nine years, at her expense, three storage dams at Mica, High Arrow and Duncan Lakes.

The United States would pay Canada 50 per cent of the resulting savings in flood damage and supply Canada with 50 per cent of the electricity generated. Canada would allow a 42-mile backup in her territory of water stored by the U.S. Libby Dam to be of the electricity generated. Canada would allow a 42-mile backup in her territory of water stored by the U.S. Libby Dam to be of the electricity generated.

Hair Style Clinched Vote For Kennedy, Barber Says

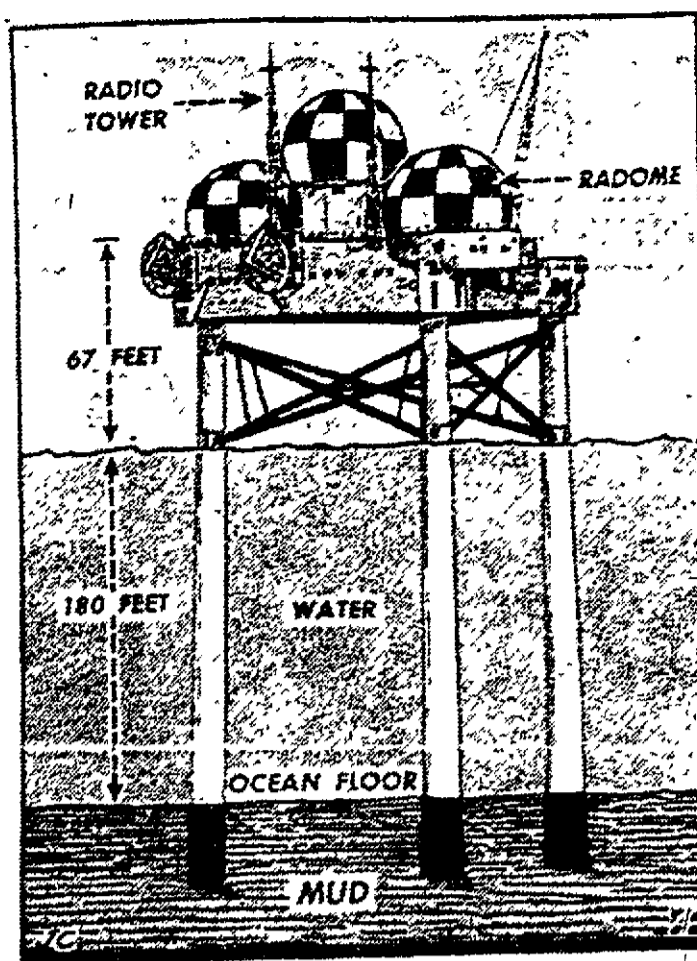

LONDON (AP)—John F. Kennedy bested Richard M. Nixon by a head—his head of uniquely styled hair.

That's the opinion of William Troyack, master of the London branch of the Incorporated Guild of Hairdressers, Wigmakers and Perfumers.

"Mr. Kennedy has a special way of having his hair cut," said Troyack in an interview today, "and I'm convinced that accounted for the difference in votes that put him in the White House."

Master barber Troyack has a theory that hair styling is vital to all politicians.

"A politician seeking to make a name for himself should create a characteristic hair style and

Little Transpires at GOP Transition Ball

Party's Top Brass Ignore Not-So-Gay Event; About 900 Faithful Attend

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans held a transition ball last night and not much transpired.

There was dancing and drinking, a few laughs, a new fight song nobody got very excited about. But the worst blow was that the GOP top brass—especially President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon—didn't show up at all. Not even Republican national chairman Thruston B. Morton.

The 900 or so energetic Republicans who did come had a fine time dancing till midnight to a jazzy, 13-piece orchestra. But it wasn't what you'd call a gala.

Among prominent guests were Mrs. Eisenhower's sister and brother-in-law, Col. and Mrs. George Gordon Moore.

The audience, including many young dance-minded Republicans, applauded a transition ball song that predicted "we'll be back in sixty-four."

"Crying Towels"

Paper "crying towels" were distributed and a sign reading "house rules" advised that no crying aloud was permitted. It urged: "Republicans, save your buttons."

Several congressmen were on hand and two from Ohio—William Ayres and Frank Bow—participated in a skit depicting news commentators reviewing events "that made this ball necessary."

Guests laughed over lines describing President-elect John F. Kennedy's victory as "the smallest landslide in history" and a stick to it for the rest of his life," he explained.

"It becomes his trade mark. People remember him by it. He lends himself to the art of the political cartoonist. Dig back through British history and you'll see what I mean."

He clipped off the names of Lloyd George, Disraeli, Charles Parnell and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

"Disraeli wore ringlets," said Troyack.

"Lloyd George had barbed locks."

"Mr. Macmillan waves his hand there are peaks at the sides."

"Parnell had a full and fatherly head of hair which he wore to match his beard."

Troyack shook his head and sighed.

"Why are present day politicians so unadventurous about their hair?"

"Reminded that Sir Winston Churchill has done very well politically without a characteristic hair style, the barber replied: 'Sir Winston unfortunately has very little hair with which to work.'"

Inventor to Face Charges In U. S. Court

Claim Investors Were Bilked of About $170,000

MADISON (AP)—Clark L. Fry's energy generating machine contains a "little bit of selling the Brooklyn Bridge" his attorney said Monday as a U.S. District Court trial opened on charges the inventor bilked investors of $170,000.

Fry, of rural Necedah, is named in a 10-count indictment charging him with the illegal sale of unregistered securities and using the mails to defraud.

The government says it isn't challenging the validity of his inventions which, among other things, include:

- A protective paint application he calls Mi-Fry-Co.
- A non-slip lock nut.
- Roll-a-way furniture called Tizit.

A water retaining fertilizer made from a volcanic ash found in the state of Oregon and called Zorbit.

Generating Machine

U.S. Atty. George E. Rapp said Fry made a total of 23 false representations in obtaining money to promote and produce the energy generating machine, which Fry says removes hydro-carbons from the air.

Rapp told the 12 jurors that the testimony they would hear would be "fantastic."

However, the court appointed attorney for the defendant, Willard Stafford of Madison, asked the jury in his opening statement to "maintain a sense of humor" and said that Fry obtained the money in good faith and did not use any of it for personal benefit.

Five witnesses said Fry told them at the time they invested their money that national firms which are expected to total about $800,000. Any profits after expenses are paid will go into a fund for the 1965 inaugural committee — regardless of which party wins the 1964 election.

With reviewing stands, patriotic bunting and other decorations going up everywhere, this town is beginning to work itself into its favorite state: compound confusion.

The Founding Fathers used only a few words to explain how a president should be inaugurated. Now it takes thousands of words, and bevy of harried schemers, merely to give a run-down on the parade.

A handy little 85-page printed document entitled simply but impressively, "General Order No. 1, Inaugural Parade," gives a listing of every unit in the parade, how far each unit is to lag behind the unit ahead of it, and how fast a band should march.

"The cadence and step for bands, drum and bugle corps and other musical organizations," the inaugural manual notes, "will be 120, 30-inch steps per minute."

The booklet includes something long needed around here, a definition for that much abused abbreviation VIP, short for Very Important Person.

Inaugural May be One Of Most Expensive in History of the Event

Three Former Presidents Will be On Hand; All Tickets Sold Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — All dismounts and enters the reviewing stands indicated today that John F. Kennedy will have one of the most expensive inaugurations in history.

Three former presidents, Herbert Hoover, Harry Truman and Dwight Eisenhower (who automatically gives up his office at noon Friday), and 45 governors will be among those watching as Kennedy takes the oath about 12:30 p.m. est.

All the 58,000 seats for the big parade down Pennsylvania Avenue — the historic route of the presidents — have been sold.

Although the ball is theoretically by invitation only, so many have grabbed for tickets at from $25 to $40 apiece that even with three mammoth halls in use simultaneously there are worries that it won't be possible to squeeze everyone in.

Symphony Tickets

All tickets to the inaugural concert, featuring the National Symphony of Washington, have been sold.

Anyone hankering to see the gala Thursday night, with its vast collection of New York and Hollywood stars, can still do so by making a $100 contribution to the Democratic party. A box for 10 persons: $10,000.

If you're the type that would like to have inaugural license plates on your car, well, some are left, at $10.50.

Profits from the gala will be applied to the Democrats' $3-million campaign debt. Receipts from all other activities will be used to cover inaugural expenses which are expected to total about $800,000. Any profits after expenses are paid will go into a fund for the 1965 inaugural committee — regardless of which party wins the 1964 election.

Lobbying Corps Signs Up for '61

Over 300 Expected to Register as Special Interest Representatives

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Long before the new Wisconsin legislative session settles down to work, the lobbying registration bureau at the state capitol is crowded with lobbyists who are being paid to pass, kill, or change legislative proposals.

Among some of the first registrants are most of the professional lobbying corps, representing some of the most skilled veterans in persuading legislators to appreciate the point of view of their special interest clients.

Nearly 100 lobbyists have thus far been registered under the state lobby act. They pay a fee of $10 for a license, and are required to put their purposes, as well as their clients and the amount of their expenses and compensation on the record.

Lobbying Specialists
Before the end of the current session, the number of registered lobbyists will probably reach 300. The total may be more. The tendency has been for an increase in the number of licenses over the years.

Some of the licensees are full-time specialists in legislation and politics. Many others are regularly employed as executives of trade associations with headquarters in Madison who regard lobbying as a primary although not an exclusive assignment. Many are lawyers who have developed an acquaintance and a skill through many years of service. A substantial number attract clients because they formerly served in the legislature, or in a similar political capacity, and are supposed by their employers to have superior "contacts" and understanding of legislative life.

Others are full-time employees of the groups they represent, such as labor organizations, professional associations, the larger local governments, the associations of local governments, business groups and the larger corporations.

Among the early registrants were some of the veterans of the fraternity, including:
John P. Varda of the Wisconsin Motor Carriers Association, Harry Franke of the Wisconsin Road Builders Association, A. J. Thelen of the Wisconsin County Boards association, Lloyd Yaude of the Wisconsin Mutual Insurance alliance, and Irving Ott of the Wisconsin State Brewers Association.

Oscar Christiansen of the Wisconsin Creameries' Association, Fred M. Elliott of the Wisconsin Petroleum Council, George Tipler of the Wisconsin School Boards Association, H. C. Weinlick of the Wisconsin Education Association, Marvin Verhulst of the Wisconsin Cannery Association, W. F. McDonough of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, Irving Kennedy of the Brotherhood of Railroad Engineers, Maurice Coakley of the Wisconsin Manufacturers Association, John Lawton of the Wisconsin Council of County and Municipal Employees and other labor groups, George Forster of the Remley, Appleton, president; James Bamberg, Kaukauna, secretary; John B. Catlin, Neenah, vice president; and Harold C. Adams, Appleton, treasurer. Construction on the marina will begin this spring, with plans for the facility to be in operation before the 1961 park season closes.

High Cliff State Park To Take Shape in 1961

Marina Construction, Roads Major Projects; Camp Site to be Planned

Wisconsin Bankers Association, William F. Double of the Wisconsin Building and Loan League, and Roy Kubista of the Wisconsin State Employees Association. Changing times and new political situations bring new lobbies to the Madison scene.

Currently, for example, there are some proposals for legal regulation of the so-called "go-karts" that have become popular in many localities of the state, and the licensing of the operators of the commercial racing parks featuring the small powered vehicles.

The Wisconsin Karting Association, as a result, has registered Thomas Brown of Milwaukee as its lobbyist for the new legislative session. Other new proposals will bring other new faces to the lobbying sections of the legislature during the next six months.

High Cliff State Forest Park will be the scene of a busy work year in 1961, according to Clyde T. Smith of the Wisconsin Conservation Department.

The Campbell sportman, in charge of the High Cliff Park development for the state, spoke at the annual meeting of the High Cliff State Forest Park Association Monday night at City Hall. John B. Catlin, Neenah, also reported on the boat marina planned for the area. He and S. F. Shattuck, head the special committee of 50 which set out to raise $120,000 for the project.

Besides starting the marina, which will include a four-acre water area, parking facilities and road at the western end of the state park, work will progress on the highway construction. Smith said plans are to complete the first phase of road building, including the grading and surfacing of roads now under construction.

He pointed out that this major $240,000 project was started late in October and continued into December. The Kramp Construction Co. of Milwaukee has the contract for all grading and surfacing. Completed so far is the rough grading of the south entrance road, the road through the quarry and parking area on the top of

Directors Re-elected By Park Association

All five directors of High Cliff Forest Park Association whose terms expired this month were re-elected Monday night.

They are Adam C. Remley and Elmer H. Jennings, both of Appleton; John B. Catlin, Neenah; James Bamberg, Kaukauna; and John Gerrits, Kimberly.

In board action after the annual meeting, Remley was re-elected president of the association, Catlin vice president to succeed W. E. Schubert, and Harold C. Adams, Appleton, and Bamberg were re-elected treasurer and secretary respectively.

ing has been done to the north entrance.

More picnic tables will be added to the present 140 total and plans will get underway for future construction of a camping area in the former Schulz woods.

Another important work phase for the year includes clean-up and preservation of the Indian mounds on top of the cliff, he said. Staking out the mounds will be done in the spring.

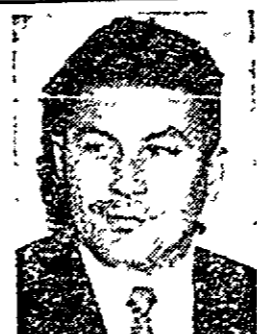

The picnic grounds on the cliff will be extended to the newly purchased Holzschuh property for use this summer and planning of a bath house will be speeded up, he said. Construction of the marina will begin as soon as weather permits.

Now 355 Acres
High Cliff Park now has 355.77 acres, with an additional 126 acres to be obtained in the near future, Smith reported. The State Highway Commission also has acquired additional acreage as part of the right-of-way to be used in construction of the park roads. This will bring total state ownership within the park to 472.01 acres, he said.

Camping during the last season showed a 300 per cent. increase, Smith said. In 1959, there were 113 families in tents and also 26 trailers in the small temporary camp area on High Cliff. This was used for 606 camper days. In contrast, 50 trailers and 310 tenting families used the area last summer for 1,992 camper days.

There was a 30 per cent decline of public use of the park last summer, but Smith pointed out that rainy and cold weekend weather was discouraging to picnickers.

His comparative figures show best how popular the state park has become. In the first year—1957—17,144 persons with 4,287 cars came to the area to picnic. In 1958, the number had more than tripled—54,144 persons and 13,589 cars. The next year increased use of the park is shown by 95,528 persons and 27,317 cars. Last summer the totals dropped to 55,645 picnickers and 15,964 automobiles.

State AFL-CIO Opposes Extra Police Power

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Wisconsin State AFL-CIO executive board is on record against any legislation that would give additional authority and arresting powers to the State Traffic Patrol. The 12-member board, representing about 350,000 union members in Wisconsin, adopted a resolution expressing opposition to a bill that it said would in effect "practically make a state police system" of the existing patrol. The bill has been drafted at the request of the director of the State Patrol. The board noted that the state AFL-CIO opposed establishment of the patrol until 1939 when it withdrew opposition on assurance that it would not become a state police system.

The resolution pointed out that traffic deaths increased from 321 in 1959 to 921 in 1960. "The increase," the resolution added, "demonstrates that it would be pure folly to give additional duties to the state patrol which must of necessity take time and service away from the patrolling of traffic, bringing about inevitable breakdown of effective enforcement of our traffic laws."

Silence Covers Castro's Drive Against Rebels

But Government Executes Three More 'Terrorists'

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime maintained a curtain of silence today around military operations against rebels in central Cuba's mountains. But it announced execution of three more "terrorists" in Havana and openly purged opposition in labor unions.

The executions, which raised the unofficial total to 580 since Castro took power, were the first since the prime minister announced those responsible for recent bombings and sabotage would be dealt with most severely.

Three Executed
Shot early today in Havana's La Cabana fortress were Juan Mesa Lopez and Julio Llevra Suarez, accused of "counterrevolutionary and terrorist activities," and Balbino Emilio Diaz, charged with attempting to kill pro-Castro radio commentator Jose Pardo Llava last fall. Llevra Suarez also was accused of spying for the U.S. government.

They had been convicted less than 12 hours earlier. La Cabana was jammed with an undisclosed number of prisoners awaiting trial for anti-Castro activities.

On the heels of a warning to the Bus Drivers Union to close ranks behind Castro's revolution, the Labor Ministry dismissed 380 employees of the recently nationalized Cuban Electric Co. No official reason was given but the workers said they were fired for being unpatriotic and potentially dangerous to loyal workers.

The dismissed workers demonstrated briefly last December in protest against Communist attempts to take over the union. Union leaders were purged immediately. A wave of sabotage against electric lines followed.

Officials would give no reports on the progress of the offensive in the Escambray Mountains of Las Villas Province. Castro's office denied he was directing the military operation and termed absurd a report that as many as 30,000 government troops were trying to round up 4,000 rebels.

It is unofficially estimated that 10,000 to 15,000 militiamen are massed against 300 to 1,000 anti-Castro guerrillas operating in the mountains.

There was no government reaction to the U.S. ban on travel by most Americans to Cuba. Castro possibly will retaliate by further tightening the already stiff control on Cubans traveling to the United States.

Scout Finds Easiest Way to Light Fire With Flint, Steel

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP)—Planning a mortgage-burning ceremony at a Boy Scout campsite, adult leaders decided it should be done in true scouting style—igniting the mortgage with flint and steel.

Don Roney of the Mo-Kan Council executive board stepped forward Monday night with his trusty scout kit.

He struck the flint again and again. Plenty of sparks, but the mortgage was unscorched.

A companion proved that fire can be kindled by flint and steel—in a cigarette lighter.

over the tower wreckage and put divers down continuously to work on it."

Rescue operations had been dramatically spurred Monday when enigmatic tappings and a sound which was likened to a human voice were heard coming from the tower.

Tappings Cease
Then the rappings faded, stopped — and were not heard again.

"A realistic view," said the Coast Guard, "must be that the men in the tower are no longer alive."

During the chill black night, a flotilla of salvage and search vessels hovered near the spot where the tower stood guard as part of the Air Force's early warning system.

While searchlights and flares played eerily over the scene, teams of divers plunged into the reach the main quarters of the tower's ship-like hull.

Officers believe the tower was in an upright position, more than 30 feet below the surface. Luminous objects, believed radar domes, were spotted by a diver Monday.

Low Visibility
Despite underwater lights, the divers found the going rough as murky water, stirred by the same storm that wrecked the tower Sunday night, lowered visibility and hampered operations.

Two of the tower's three legs were discovered still standing — but bent over as if by some giant hand. One was 10 feet and the other 25 feet below the surface.

These legs will be sheared off by divers to permit a salvage boat carrying a diving bell and diving gear to move into position directly over the tower's position.

The station, not unlike a ship, had two enclosed decks, containing recreation hall, gymnasium, swimming pool, dining areas and cabins for personnel.

The 4,300-ton, 67-foot tower had rested on its tripod sunk into the ocean bottom about 180 feet beneath the surface.

Three Men Held On Rape Charges

WAUSAU (AP) — Three men were held on $5,000 bond each Monday following their arraignment in Marathon County Court on charges that they raped a 28-year-old divorcee as they took her home from a tavern.

Jerry Stidham, 21, and Raymond Britton, 19, both of Hammond, Ind., and Marvin Thomas, 29, of Chili, Wis., waived preliminary examination. They were bound over to Circuit Court for trial.

Authorities said the woman told them she was raped at knifepoint in an automobile on a rural road as the men were taking her home from a tavern.

Lad Uses Stick To Rescue Girls

CONOMOWOC (AP) — Fourteen-year old Joseph Conway Jr. pulled a branch from the thawing ice of Fowler Lake Monday and used it to rescue two sisters who had fallen through the ice.

Roseann Itner, 9, and her sisters, Deborah, 8, and Judith, 5, were taking a shortcut home across the ice at a narrow part of the lake. When they were about 120 feet from shore, Roseann and Deborah fell through the ice.

Judith began to scream as her sisters disappeared in the water. When the girls came up, they grabbed the edge of the ice and held on, calling for help.

The Conway boy was playing nearby with other children and when he heard the screams of the Itner girls he ran to the scene. He wrenched the branch from the ice, knelt forward and extended it first to Roseann and, when she was safe, to Deborah.

After pulling them to safety, the boy and the other youngsters helped them to shore and police took them home. The girls suffered no ill effects.

Rule Mother of 10 Incompetent To Stand Trial

ELLSWORTH (AP)—Mrs. Jane Spengler, a 42-year-old mother of 10 children, Monday was ordered returned to Winnebago State Hospital as incompetent to stand trial in the fatal shooting of her husband.

Circuit Judge Bruce Beilfuss announced the decision after a psychiatrist testified Mrs. Spengler was mentally ill.

She was charged with first degree murder in the shotgun shooting of her husband, Earl, 45, on Nov. 11, 1956, at their Spring Valley home.

Mrs. Spengler was committed to the hospital shortly after the slaying and in August of 1960 officials said she could stand trial.

However, the illness of Circuit Judge Robert Varnum brought postponements in the case until Monday when the psychiatrist testified that Mrs. Spengler apparently lost control of her mental faculties once again.

Police said it seemed likely that her purse was stolen as she was walking home from the department store where she worked as a clerk.

Air Safety Is of National Concern

The retiring chief of the Federal Aviation Agency, E. R. Quesada, has written an explosive article for Harper's magazine charging that groups in aviation continually pressure the agency against regulations aimed at promoting safety in the air. At a time when a major air tragedy still haunts many air travelers, Mr. Quesada's complaints are bound to be widely discussed.

He lists as "equally hostile" to almost everything the FAA tries to do, the Air Line Pilots Association and the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association. Both groups, according to Quesada, agitate against such specific rules as new medical requirements for pilots, retirement ages for pilots and equal training required of co-pilots on airlines. He also cites the Air Transport Association for objecting to safety requirements which mean a financial expenditure, such as all-weather radar. Pilots are naturally individualistic, according to Mr. Quesada, or they wouldn't be pilots in the first place but there has to be a compromise with individualism when the safety of millions is concerned.

Undoubtedly some of the disagreement comes because many federal agencies have shown inefficiency, bureaucratic arrogance and a lack of understanding or interest in the problems of the industries they must regulate. The fatality rate on commercial airlines is far less per mile traveled than on our highways although this is not necessarily a particularly proud record.

But the requirements of safety of the public long since have been decided in the courts as grounds for regulation. If there is error in regulation of the air lanes, we would prefer that it leaned toward conservatism rather than chance taking.

Mr. Quesada himself may have been too explosive a figure for leadership of such a controversial agency. His earliest statements about the collision over New York appeared to put the blame upon the pilot of the jet aircraft although facts in the hearings now indicate that mechanical failures may have been the cause. Mr. Quesada's charges of "calculated campaigns" by the various air groups smack just a little of persecution. Federal agencies too often have been "arbitrary and capricious."

But the matter of air safety in the increasingly crowded sky is of concern to all Americans whether they fly or not. There must be federal regulation and it must be intelligent regulation with understanding and vision, and there must be cooperation from air organizations. It's a large order but the public safety — and the expansion of the industry — demand it.

Commends Governor for Attack On State Chamber of Commerce

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I have forwarded the following letter to Gov. Nelson: Honorable Gov. Gaylord Nelson State Capitol Building Madison, Wis.

Dear Gov. Nelson:

I wish to take my hat off to you for having the courage to place the Wisconsin Chamber of Commerce in its proper place. You are correct in labeling this group a bunch of conservatives more concerned with profits than human need.

This is the same group that works day and night attempting to tell the people of Wisconsin that they need a sales tax. They have not told the people of Wisconsin that this sales tax, if passed, will probably mean a profit to the store collecting this tax, and in most cases a member of this Wisconsin Chamber of Commerce. Contrary to the belief of some, this sales tax is only going to be an additional tax and will not replace any tax unless that tax which is replaced is equaled, and will also have to provide for the added bookkeeping profit for Chamber members.

It is interesting to note that this Chamber of Commerce is the same group which opposes any and every attempt to raise the minimum wage or to extend or add to any unemployment compensation benefit. Many Chamber members favor the so-called "Right to Work Law" or better known as the ruin the union bargaining power bill. All of this is done in order to have lower costs and make more profit and keep labor in its proper place — away from the bargaining table. Business must make a profit, but let business and its Chamber members realize it can not progress forward by pushing others down.

Russian Pupil Has Unique Description Of First Humans

From The Roadway Express

A Russian school teacher asked one of his pupils, "Who were the first human beings?" "Adam and Eve," the youngster quickly answered. "And what nationality were they?"

"Russian, of course," said the student.

"Very good," the instructor returned. "And how did you know they were Russians?" "Easy," said the pupil. "They had no roof over their heads, no clothes to wear, and only one apple for the two of them — and they called it Paradise."

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

Senate Republicans rush to confirm Kennedy's cabinet. Ode: "The new frontiersmen are ten, all brave, reliable men. From Harvard appointed, by senate appointed, so fast you couldn't say when."

Ike's last budget figure looks routine. It is a string of nine stalwart zeroes, preceded by two tender expressions of hope.

Bob Kennedy says Americans must toughen up physically. As attorney general, he may be our greatest thing since Bern MacFadden.

Fighting in the Congo has grown so complicated, opposing sides are being urged to wear numbers on their backs. Slogan: "You can't eat the players without a scorecard."

Ike orders Americans overseas to return their gold holdings. Ike's worried about Kentucky's Ft. Knox. He can no longer say, "There's gold in them thar hills."

from the bargaining table, and gain the bookkeeping profit for itself from the sales tax.

Governor, I am sending a copy of this letter to each of the papers that serve this fine city. Again, I congratulate you for a job well done in setting the record on this subject in its proper place.

Feels Writer Overlooked Several Christian Points

Editor, Post-Crescent:

"A Reader" identifies himself as a Christian in his letter published in your People's Forum on Saturday under the heading, "Brother's Helper in Education — Not Keeper." As he writes, however, I am wondering if he has overlooked some points.

He says, "The Federal Government didn't make this country, but individual effort did..." Do not Christians commonly confess that God created this country as well as the rest of the earth? And wasn't it with His beneficent power and direction that individuals were able to develop and use the resources to build our United States to this point? Along with pride of achievement, shouldn't consideration also be given to the question of how many of His blessings in time, in human intellect and endeavor, and in natural resources were wasted? I would like to ask questions too about the statement, "Certainly all of us hope that our financial rewards in life will continue to reflect the effort we can expend toward that end."

Would this Christian agree that God's word usually lists preaching and teaching among the noblest and highest of activities? Would he not agree that few, if any, occupational groups spend more time, effort, and dedication in fulfilling their responsibilities than the preachers and

STRATEGY FAILS

Honeck's late entry has shown the failure of basic strategy of the Milwaukee jurist who is known as one of the leading Democratic politicians of that city.

There is a sentimental plausibility in the fact that Honeck wants to succeed Justice Martin, for it was Martin, when he was attorney general, who brought Honeck to the statehouse for a distinguished decade of service as deputy attorney general that led to his election as attorney general on his own account in 1956. Judge Gordon is a man of eminent legal attainments, as the impressive cross-section of his endorsements from professional lawyers bears witness. But in Honeck he has a foe worthy of his mettle. It may be doubted that any private citizen who has ever aspired for the state court has tried as many cases before that tribunal during his career as has Honeck.

THE POLITICS

Wisconsin judicial elections during all of the history of the state have been non-partisan. Generally the partisan over-teachers? And yet, what do the records say about their financial rewards?

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for the week of Jan. 17, 1861.

A Washington dispatch says apprehensions of an attack on the Capitol (Washington, D. C.) are generally diminished.

A military company of several hundred Baltimoreans have declared their willingness to escort Mr. Lincoln safely to the White House.

The Mississippi delegation urged Secretary Thompson to withdraw from the cabinet when his State secedes. He will probably yield, although his inclinations are to hold on until March 4th.

An immense meeting was held in Philadelphia's National Hall Jan. 3 to sustain Maj. Anderson at Fort Sumpter. About 5,000 persons were present. D. Lewis presided, assisted by Col. Stewart, Maj. Gen. Robert Patterson and others. Resolutions were adopted heartily approving the conduct of Maj. Anderson, calling on the President to provide him with all the force he needs for the defense of his position and declaring that all who wage war against the United States as public enemies, and declaring that the American flag shall be protected to the last extremity.

Speeches were made by J. Murray Rush, Democrat, Charles Gibbons, Republican, and Mark Munday, Union. The enthusiasm was intense.

State Supreme Court Race Could be Close

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The voters of Wisconsin will have a choice of offered them on their ballot in the spring for justice of the state supreme court.

It had been assumed here and elsewhere that Circuit Judge Myron Gordon of Milwaukee, who had been busy for many months putting together a mighty campaign machine, might succeed to the seat of Justice John E. Martin by default. But Stewart Honeck of Milwaukee, the former attorney general and a widely known and respected practitioner, has decided after some hesitation that he is going to make another run for the court seat which he missed in a narrow defeat a couple of years ago.

Normally Honeck would be an extremely formidable opponent. Without any intention of disparaging his qualifications, there is some doubt abroad about his outlook today, because he hesitated so long that literally hundreds of politicians and lawyers, of all varieties of political persuasion, have been committed to Gordon and will find it difficult to release themselves from the commitment. Gordon obviously was trying to discourage a Republican of any stature by soliciting the backing of some of the principal Republican lawyers in the state.

Honeck conservatively has as much claim upon the affections of the Republican state organization and its adherents as anybody who has campaigned for the court in recent times. Except that he ran the last time against a justice who was also regarded as a Republican, Harold Hallow, he would have become a member of the court through his Republican backing in that contest.

Given the stand-off positions of the parties in the most recent partisan elections last November, the situation is one which does not encourage easy assumptions about victory by either side.

tones in judicial campaigns are few, or almost invisible. The election in the spring will be a different kind.

Gordon can summon the considerable resources of the Democratic party machine throughout Wisconsin, some of its chief allies, and notably the powerful liberal alliances that dominate the populous voting center of Milwaukee.

Death Toll Price Still Too High

From The Nashville Banner

At first glance — in reading that the highway accident toll actually is decreasing — you rub your eyes. Then you discover that the statistics to that effect refer to the rate; in other words, though the numerical total for the given year is higher, in comparison with the volume of travel — or percentage-wise — it is declining.

With the motor vehicle registrations climbing toward the 75,000,000 mark, and calculating the average mileage per year at 10,000, that would make for a total of 750,000 million miles.

For example of what this means in terms of the death rate, and technically speaking: In 1958 there was one death for every 178,600 miles of motor travel. In the four year period 1953-57, the rate was one death per 34,900 miles of travel.

Closer in point of time, it was horrible enough to have chalked up 37,800 such fatalities in 1959 — and it is too formidable to contemplate, had the 1953-57 rate applied to the vastly increased traffic-load and mileage.

The ratio of careful drivers may be increasing. Unquestionably, there is more engineering for safety, greater concentration on law enforcement, more and better roads. But the personal equation still is the major factor in causing accidents; and accident belongs on it if they are to be prevented.

The rate (per mile travelled) is coming down, but the sad fact is that the total of fatalities still is climbing. One life per billion of miles travelled still would make recklessness tragically expensive.

Ask Longer Lease On Pistol Range

City Unit, Club Propose 20-Year Contract With Clear Provisions

The Appleton City Council Public Safety Committee and a committee of the Appleton Rifle Club agreed last night to clarify and lengthen the term of the city's lease on a pistol range for the police department.

Atty. Karl P. Baldwin, member of the club, said there have been serious misconceptions about the lease's terms concerning termination. The public safety committee wanted a lease that would make the City Council more willing to appropriate money for improvements at the pistol range. Council members opposed investing money in private property.

The police department had suggested buying the pistol range, but the Rifle Club said it did not want to lose control of part of its grounds. The city pays $100 a year rent.

Mutual Consent
Baldwin and City Atty. Don L. Jury agreed that the lease could be terminated only by mutual consent of the city and the club. The 60 days written notice mentioned in the lease is only the opening of negotiations, they said.

The proposed lease would run for 20 rather than 10 years. Sixty days' notice would not be required for termination, but mutual consent would be needed.

The groups proposed an addition to the contract providing that, if the club decided to move, it should offer the range to the city at the same price another buyer would pay. If the city didn't want to buy, the club would offer equal facilities elsewhere.

May Become Valuable
The range site, near Center Swamp, is not desirable for most purposes and therefore is best as a shooting area, it was pointed out. But with the building of new U. S. 41 nearer the range and with Appleton's expansion, the club's land might become more valuable in the future.

Provisions in the 1958 lease that the police provide equipment and improvements for the range have been fulfilled. A suggestion was to replace those provisions with a statement that no substantial changes should be made without mutual consent of the city and club.

Other provisions in the lease are satisfactory, the city and club committees agreed.

The Public Safety Committee also confirmed fire department promotions made by the Police and Fire Commission.

The committee referred to Traffic Lt. John Gosch a resolution by Ald. Homer E. Malmstrom requesting traffic lights at College Avenue and Drew Street and a suggestion to paint Rankin Street with three lanes just north of Marc's Big Boy Is the Fox Cities newest restaurant, located on grounds of Guest House Inn on W. College Ave. at Highway 41. The restaurant will open for business Wednesday and a grand opening is planned for Friday.

Marc's Big Boy New Restaurant In Fox Cities

Starts Operation Wednesday, Grand Opening Friday

A $185,000 Big Boy Restaurant will open for business Wednesday on the Guest House Inn grounds on West College Ave. The grand opening is set for Friday.

Known as Marc's Big Boy, the restaurant is the first in the national chain in Wisconsin to be built outside Milwaukee.

Ben Marcus, owner of the largest independent chain of movie theaters in the Midwest, and Gene Kilburg, both of Milwaukee, are partners in the restaurants. Headquarters for the national organization is Glendale, Calif., where the Big Boy idea originated with Robert Wian, head of the chain.

Marcus and Kilburg own the franchise for Wisconsin. James Reinhardt, native of Bismarck, N.D., who has been associated with Big Boy Restaurants for seven years, is manager of the Appleton operation. He was an assistant manager of one of the restaurants in Bismarck for five years and for the last two years managed the Big Boy in Minot, N.D. He and his wife live with their 8-month-old son at 6 Sherman Place, in Appleton.

The restaurant building, constructed in the modern design of Big Boy restaurants, is made of stone, glass and wood. The structure is about 100 feet by 100 feet, with a wide expanse of windows across the front. A triangular peak breaks the flat roof line. The interior has expanses of tile work and an arched beam ceiling. Natural stained walnut also is used inside, with upholstered booths in tones of turquoise and burnt orange. Wicker and brass form the basket lights, with the center light fixture measuring 12 feet across.

The kitchen area, open to the dining part of the building, is ceramic tiled and furnished with stainless steel equipment. A huge copper hood covers the entire kitchen area.

Special Training
The combination restaurant and coffee shop cost $100,000 for the building and $85,000 for the equipment, it was reported. It seats about 100 persons for table and booth service and accommodates 12 at a counter.

Another Big Boy tradition is the organization's special training of employees, from dishwashers to waitresses. Today a crew of Big Boy employee-trainers arrived by plane from Glendale, Calif. They will stay in Appleton until the 40 to 50 employees are

Widening of Union at Winnebago St. Asked

Appleton Wire Works Offers to Swap Land In Street for Intersection Improvement

Widening of N. Union Street where it meets Winnebago Street was recommended by the Appleton Street and Sanitation Committee Monday.

The proposal calls for moving the west curb of Union on the south side of Winnebago. It would lessen congestion caused by trucks loading and unloading at Tuttle Press, advocates say.

Bruce B. Purdy, Appleton Wire Works vice president and secretary, presented the proposal. His company plans to open a parking lot on the southwest corner, a triangular lot south of the Chicago and North Western Railroad tracks.

Owns Part of Street
Purdy explained that Appleton Wire Works bought the property and later discovered part of the description was in the middle of Winnebago Street. He offered to swap the northern tip of the property for the curb relocation.

Committee members suggested the city offer to pay 3% of the cost of the Union Street widening if the Wire Works deeded the Winnebago Street land to the city, but it was decided not to make one action conditional on the other in the group's recommendation to the Board of Public Works.

The Appleton city engineer and the Harrison town chairman were instructed to find out how much between E. John Street and Telulah Park.

A report that sanitary and storm sewers, water mains and laterals should be put in before concrete paving on some streets in the area between Oneida and Meade Streets between Pershing Street and the north city limits this year.

PTA to See Film

A film strip, "The Angry Boy," about mental health, will be shown to Richmond School Parent-Teachers Association at 8 p.m. Thursday. Mrs. Homer Malmstrom will lead discussion.

In Three Municipalities
Cost of improvement would be shared by Appleton, which owns both sides of 355 feet and 1,937 feet on the north side only; Buchanan Town, 1,300 feet on the north side; and Harrison, 3,200 feet on the south side.

Drainage problems in the area create a need for wider right-of-way and better ditches if the street is to be permanently improved, it was pointed out.

The committee told Ald. Al Stoegebauer that instead of asking for reduction or rebate of the snow removal tax for W. Franklin Street between N. Richmond and N. State streets, he should ask that the street be taken off the snow removal list. Snow was removed there last year at Stoegebauer's request, because there wasn't enough room for the snow between the sidewalks and the street.

Approves Reports
The committee approved reports of Director of Public Works Edwin J. Duszynski, which included:

A recommendation that Mr. and Mrs. Jacob L. Powers be asked to appear before the Board of Public Works about the proposed opening of E. McKinley Street between S. Lawe and S. Ritgers streets. Powers owns part of the land through which the street would pass.

A report that the city has received an easement from River-view Country Club for a sewer.

Accepts Agreement
Acceptance of an agreement to fill the ravine north of Atlantic Street between Harriman and Division Streets. The area is north of Arbutus Park.

Approval of specifications for a dump truck and for a garbage truck to be added to the city fleet.

A request from Wisconsin Telephone Co. to remove and replace sidewalks on the south side of W. College Avenue between Story and Douglas Streets to install a conduit and also to install conduits beneath the intersection of Badger Avenue, and Commercial and Douglas Streets.

Needs No Sewers
A report that Fox Valley Lutheran High School will not need additional sewers for proposed expansion.

A request that the city apply for a license to lay a storm sewer beneath the Milwaukee Road and Chicago and North Western tracks near the power canal be-

Youth Group Uses Imagination, Creates Wild and Wonderful Hats for Skating Party

A Person Has to be pretty sharp on the 'boards' to keep those little wooden wheels under control. Ken Gibson found it wasn't quite as easy as it looked. As he puts out one hand to cushion his fall, Miss Audrey Gill hangs on tightly to the other. Also skating are Miss Carol Grass, Neenah, and Keith Hartley, Menasha.

The Fox Cities Youth For Christ Organization put on 'crazy hats' and skated away the superstitious bugaboos of Friday the Thirteenth at Waverly Rink. The roller skating party was attended by young people from Fox Cities Protestant Churches. Skaters were required to wear their hats from the starting time at 8 p.m. until the judging at 9:30. Two grand prizes were awarded, one for the best all around boy's hat and one for the girl's best chapeau. Awards also were presented for the most unusual, the funniest and the biggest hats. A short period of singing and devotions was held at the close of the evening.

Russell Hill, Menasha, and Miss Bennie Marine, Neenah, right, looked like a couple of experts as they made a turn at the Fox Cities Youth for Christ roller skating party. Notice the fancy footwork employed and the casual air of assurance.

Half the Fun of a 'crazy hat' party is enjoying the imagination put to work by your friends. At left, taking time out from the rigors of roller skating to enjoy refreshments and watch friends manipulate the turns are Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Smith, Miss Liz Rusch and John Krull. Judges, right, had a difficult time choosing the winners of the 'Crazy Hat' contest. Dale Bystrom, Mrs. Charles Maddux and John Gillespie, inspect the headware chosen by Miss Bonnie Durkee, Kaukauna, and Walter Wadel, Jr., Appleton. Miss Durkee's hat must have made it difficult for her to maintain her balance on wheels. Mr. Wadel's strange headgear rose to such heights that he had to remove it for judging.

Homogenized Household Heat

Almost everyone is familiar with homogenized milk in which the cream is mixed uniformly throughout the milk. But few people have heard of homogenized heat — unless they have lived in a house where there is no forced circulation of air. In such houses the warm air hovers near the ceiling and the floor remains cold. Forced air circulation distributes the heat evenly in modern heating systems. There are no cold spots or corners because the heat is homogenized.

Winter Calls for Complexion Care

Now is the time for all good women to come to the aid of their complexions! Icy winds and near-zero temperatures take their toll if not combated by a sensible program of skin care.

This includes thorough drying after the daily bath or shower, particularly if you are going outdoors soon after. Hands should be protected from chapping by wearing gloves even when just going from one doorway to another. Each time you wash hands and face, finish by applying a bit of lotion, cream, or oil.

Efficiency, Comfort, Part of White House

BY ROSE McKEE
WASHINGTON — When President-Elect and Mrs. John F. Kennedy move into the White House Friday they will be living in a virtually "unperishable" mansion.

Lorenzo S. Winslow, former White House architect, said that after the 1949-1952 renovation of the historic building, he told then President Truman, "This (house) will last 500 years."

Winslow, who considers the White House now to be "almost bombproof," was interviewed by the National Association of Home Builders on the changes that have been made in and about the Executive Mansion in the 19 years he was associated with it and knew "every foot" of the building and its grounds.

Laundry Shop
He said that Mr. Kennedy will have a far more attractive view through the windows when he calls his Cabinet into session than did President Franklin D. Roosevelt in the first days after he took office.

"Then," Winslow said, "the laundry shop was located in an outside corner that could be seen from the Cabinet room — and sometimes towels were flapping on a line by the laundry shop."

He explained that the bulk of the White House laundry was sent out, but small pieces were washed and hung by the laundry shop. He added, "They tried to conceal it (the wash) behind some shrubbery but you could see it."

Swimming Pool
A present White House aide expressed amazement and some doubt that laundry ever was hung where it could be seen from the Cabinet room. A clerk who has been there since 1930 said he could not remember "such a thing."

Winslow, rechecked on the issue, said emphatically, "Well, I remember it." He pointed out that the laundry shop and some adjacent shops were torn down very soon after Mr. Roosevelt took office and the White House swimming pool was built where they had been.

Winslow indicated he hopes Mr. Kennedy will use the so-called Truman balcony, which kicked up a story of controversy when it was built during the renovation 10 years ago.

Safety Feature
"The balcony," Winslow said, "is one place where a President can walk in the fresh air without being surrounded by Secret Service men. He can sit there or he can walk and he can be alone."

The architect said the balcony would be a safe place for the Kennedys' small children, Caroline, 3, and John F., Jr., born in late November. He pointed out that the balcony has a high railing.

"There's good walking or playing space on the balcony," Winslow said, "for it is something like 15 feet wide and 30 feet long. It's right off the President's study."

Sagging Floor
The White House was a "shaky old firetrap" before its nearly $6,000,000 restoration, according to Winslow. The decision to renovate it came after the floors started sagging and the then Margaret Truman's piano sank slightly over crackling floor timbers and the East Room ceiling began shedding plaster dust.

Now, the restored building has the steel and concrete bones of a skyscraper and, it has been said, "the mechanical heart of a super hotel and all the conveniences of the Home of the Future."

The needs of the First Family are but a fraction of the requirements the White House is set up to meet. The East and West wings are in fact office buildings, and among services provided the many staff employees is a basement cafeteria.

To be considered, too, are the day-by-day tourists, for whom the public room must be kept in apple pie order, and the many VIP guests at big receptions and dinners.

Turning out a dinner "fit for a king" is an easier operation since the restoration. There is now a big, modern, white-tiled kitchen on the ground floor, with fluorescent lighting and a theater-sized electric control board. It is equipped for the cooking of a dinner for as many as 100 guests.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower have had from 94 to 100 at big, formal dinners they have given for visiting heads of State.

Designers Paint Town Pink, Red

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Italian fashion designers are painting the capital of the Renaissance pink.

Marucelli and Veneziani were the latest to use a deluge of the color in the presentations of Italian high fashions for spring and summer. In their showings Monday night they poured on so much pink in gabardines, wools, ottomans, silks and chiffons that the whole Sala Bianca of the Pitti Palace glowed with a rosy flush.

Puffed Coats
Marucelli also presented an extraordinary designing feat, unequalled for intricate cutting. Heavy silk evening coats were shaped full with bias-cut insets. Usually "on the bias" means fluid and flowing, but these coats were puffed out, round and stiff.

Naturally there was a bright pink one, along with various li-queur-colored ones.

Underneath the coats were wonderful halter-necked chiffon dance dresses in contrasting colors. Bias-cut wool coats went over candy-striped silk dresses.

For evening Marucelli had some fun with sequins. She paved an entire black tulle, bias dress with gold sequins. On other dresses sequins are patterned into patch-work quilts, art nouveau flowers, abstract paintings, and cabbage roses.

Jole Veneziani showed impeccable cut loose coats of double-faced contrasting wools. Besides pink, there was red with navy facing, and taupe with oyster white. All the coats went over well-shaped chemise dresses.

Veneziani also showed lots of smooth gabardine coats, low-belted and patched with military pockets. They came in icy colors of sea green, pale yellow, and mango orange.

Veneziani got more dramatic for evening and made mad hats of face-covering, boa-feathered brims to go with her hot-colored chiffon cocktail dresses.

Your Problems

Teen-agers Request Recipe for Getting Over Broken Hearts

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: A group of us 16 and 17-year-olds had a slumber party and we spent most of the night talking about our favorite subject. You guessed it — boys.

The biggest unsolved problem of girls in our age group can be expressed in a single sentence: How does a gal get over a mad crush?

Do you have a recipe, Ann? If you don't have one handy will you whip one up? Thanks in advance. We knew you wouldn't fail us.—Cacklers at a Hen Party

Dear Cacklers: Here are the Landers Rules for Getting Over a Mad Crush — whipped up especially for you. I hope you will put them into practice when the need arises and let me know if they work:

(1) Accept the fact emotionally (as well as intellectually) that the romance is over. Don't hang on to bits and pieces of something that's ancient history.

(2) Return his picture, his ring, his sweater, his I.D. bracelet or anything else of value that he has given you. In brief, broom out all the old reminders.

(3) Don't let yourself spend a single minute day - dreaming about how things used to be. When off on such flights of fantasy the mind has a magic way of screening out all the unpleasant details. It can deceive you into believing things were better than they actually were.

(4) Start dating other fellows as soon as possible. The only way to fill a vacuum is to put something else in its place.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife and I have been arguing about your column. She says our 11-year-old daughter shouldered it every day. I claim an 11-year-old can wait a few years to find out about unwed mothers, drunk husbands, wifebeaters, cheat-ers and all the low types running loose these days.

Both my wife and I have learned some valuable things from your column but still I feel it is not good for young people. Why should they be exposed to the sordid side of life so soon? Childhood should be carefree, clean and happy with no hint of worry or suffering. Am I wrong?—Inquirer

Dear Inquirer: — No you're not wrong — you just have a poor memory. Was your childhood carefree, clean, happy with no hint of worry or suffering? Well, no one else had such a childhood either.

If your 11-year-old doesn't know about unwed mothers it's time she learned. Information never hurt anyone. Ignorance can be dangerous.

No one who reads this column can possibly get the idea that promiscuity, drinking, cheating and gambling are admirable. So long as this column dissects life in a constructive way I am con-

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Is it proper for a man who is a bartender to have his wife sitting at the bar four and five hours every evening? I can't figure out who is watching who but in my opinion the boss should put a stop to it. Do you agree?—Sig

Reduce Cost of Rubbish Pick-Up

The increasing flow of paper food containers into the home is one of the reasons why many municipalities are encouraging the installation of disposers in homes. Pick-up costs can be reduced considerably by eliminating combustible trash and garbage.

Music Makers Delight Audience

BY MARGUERITE SCHUMANN
New York may have its "Camelot" this season to glorify the day when knighthood was in flower, but Appleton had something considerably more authentic last evening.

It was the Collegium Musicum, a jolly little guild of music makers whose home halls are at the University of Illinois. Led by music historian George Hunter, the minstrels spread out a curious assortment of early instruments on the stage of Lawrence Music-Drama Center's Harper Hall. They swapped them back and forth, heisted them on and off the floor, and made an attractively well-bred hullabaloo of plucking, piping and gentle scrapping.

Many Talents
To play in George Hunter's Collegium Musicum you have to be able to double — not in anything so violent as brass — but on strings and winds of several shapes and sizes.

Jantina Norman, for example, did much of the singing in an attractive straight mezzo voice, but also played a portable organ copied off a Memling painting. It is a lapful worthy of Rube

Goldberg; a sort of typewriter keyboard backed by a rank of pipes. Attached to the back is a bellows that bulges like a briefcase. Miss Norman also had custody of a tiny set of finger cymbals that gave off a sort of Tink-er-Bell effect.

Uni Thomas specialized in stringed instruments — first the toy size d rebec, like a child's violin played against the biceps instead of chin (it gives off light, irritable scratch — one can't imagine old Milton writing an L'Allegro about "the rebec's jocund sound.") She also played the vielle, a big tubby yellow violin without a waistline.

Recorder Specialist
Specialist on the recorders (in three sizes, from cigar to bed-post), was Robert Smith, who also swapped off with the head man on a set of krumphorns. They are bent almost to the curve of a boomerang, and emit a gently quacking noise.

Head man Hunter played everything as needed, but seemed to concentrate on the larger strings; when he inherited Miss Thomas' vielle, he played it between the knees in the same style as his viola da gamba (a pint-sized cello without a spike), and a lute contoured like a crooked neck squash.

Have Good Time
Well, everybody on either side of the music racks had a pretty good time of it as the consort roved gently from the 13th to the 17th centuries, covering 24 different items, some mere fragments, others of sophisticated development. The dynamics ranged from a dove-sized coo to a mezzo forte — never higher — the music was white, quietly opaque; not in the least somber. There was a good deal of smiling and some appreciative laughter at seemingly intervals. It was a happy evening, and we heard a couple local citizens plotting in the lobby to get their recorders out of the closet once again.

If one had to pick out a couple of highlights, one might mention a mildly gusty Saltarello from the 13th century; Guillaume Dufay's severely monumental motet "Ave Regina Coelorum", an anonymous motet of the 14th century, "O Maria Davitica" for two voices and krumphorn; and a humorous song of falconry sung by the three men — "Se je Chant." There were lots of owls loose in that one — on brief vacation from Merlin the Magician's head, no doubt.

Our Children

Slaps, Shouts Discourage Obedience of Youngsters

BY ANGELO PATRI

"I visited my son's home lately and I was greatly distressed by my daughter-in-law's habit of slapping the hands of her 2-year-old child. If he touched anything but his toys, she slapped his hand and said, no, no, no, loudly. He would cry and then she would pick him up and set him down hard on a chair. I could say nothing, of course, but what, if anything, can I do?"

Grandmothers can only stand by and if asked, offer a suggestion. It is bad to try to rear other people's children. Nothing good comes of it. Somehow most children grow up and get on nicely in spite of grown-ups odd ways.

Hopiness a Tonic
But what bothers the older mothers and people like me, is that the children could be reared in much happier fashion. Hopiness is tonic to mind and body. It makes for a sense of well-being and that stimulates the whole being from hair to toe nails and all between. Anybody knows what a stimulant a word of praise can be, what a bit of good news can do to one's disposition. Such gifts mean even more to little children.

Parents have an obligation to their children. Making a home for them is one of the first and foremost—a comfortable home, a safe place for them to grow. Young mothers love their pretty houses with the wedding presents so new and shiny, and the latest decorating scheme just perfect. That is fine for the start. How about the run-about child when he appears? He must learn to walk, he must touch, taste and handle things to learn his way about the world. Would it not be a good idea to put that fragile lamp, that dainty flower bowl, away for the time? Put sturdy slipcovers on precious upholstery? For the time being? I know about the prestige of "nice" things but isn't the mental and physical health of a child more precious than the neighbors' notion of decor?

Continual hand slapping is bad management of child behavior. First remove things that can be moved out of reach. That leaves only the more dangerous things to be guarded. Even that can be done without the hand slapping. I don't need to spell that out.

Children take their mothers and fathers as models of behavior. If they shout and slap so do the children. Slapping does not encourage a child to obey, to learn, to listen. It irritates, arouses resentment and teaches bad behavior—most of all, a poor example.

SEAMS TO ME By Patricia Scott

Even though you may feel that winter has been with us forever, there may be many more snowy days ahead. Therefore, if your mittens and ear muffs look a little tired, you still have plenty of time to make yourself a new set.

Try a mitten and ear muff set made of white poodle cloth for fabric and red felt. Line the mittens with soft, warm, knitted wool or fleece and trim both mittens and ear muffs with velvet bows and jingle bells. Gay!

To measure and cut: Yardage will depend on the size you make, so cut a paper pattern first to determine how much you will need. To make a pattern for the mittens, trace outline of each hand, allowing one inch more all around. To make a pattern for the ear muffs, use old ear muffs as a guide or cut two circles the size you desire.

Using the paper pattern, cut two poodle cloth mitten sections, two felt mitten sections, and four lining mitten sections. Cut with pinkish shears. For ear muffs, cut two poodle cloth circles, and two felt circles, again using pinkish shears to cut.

To make mittens: Place one lining section on one poodle cloth section, right sides out. Stitch together across wrist edge only. Turn to right side. Do the same with the other lining section and corresponding felt section. Then, place lined poodle cloth top section on lined bottom felt section, having right sides out and lining inside. Top stitch all around mitten, 1/4 inch from the edge. The pinked edges are your finished edges. Using 1/4 inch wide velvet ribbon, make eight small bows and tack four on each mitten as illustrated. Then sew a bell on the knot of each bow.

To make ear muffs: Place one poodle cloth circle on one felt circle, right sides out and top stitch together 1/4 inch from the edge. Leave a small opening. Stuff with cotton until puffy. Then stitch opening closed.

For clip, use the clip from an old pair of ear-muffs or a bicycle clip. Since we can't attach the clip to the inside of the ear muff without the proper machinery, it will have to be attached on the outside felt side.

I suggest that you cover each end of the clip with felt, before attaching, so that the part that leans against the ear is padded. Then, sew to ear muffs.

Make two velvet bows and tack one on each ear muff. Then add a bell to each bow.

I suggested using red felt on white poodle cloth because it's so bright and pretty, but you can use any color you wish, combining it with one of the many fake fur fabrics now available in the stores. If you prefer, you can make the mittens unlined. And to keep warm, do what many skiers do: Wear a thin pair of knitted mittens underneath.

Sheinwold Finesse for Queen May Win Slam

Sometimes it is important to take a finesse because you are safe whether the finesse wins or loses. In this situation you can forget about the usual rules of finessing.

West opened the jack of diamonds, and declarer ruffed in dummy. South drew two rounds of trumps and led out the ace and king of clubs. West eventually got a club trick, and East the king of hearts.

Everybody at the table agreed that South had been the victim of hard luck. Who would take a club finesse with only four cards in the suit missing? So they went on to the next hand without noticing that they had mangled the gods of luck.

As the cards lie South can make his contract without risk and without guesswork.

Declarer ruffs the first diamond in dummy, gets to his hand with a trump, and ruffs the other diamond. The next step, a slight risk, is to lead the ace of clubs from dummy. Then South leads another trump to his hand.

Finesse Safe
South is now home no matter how the clubs are divided. He leads a club from his hand to ward dummy, waiting to see what West does.

If West plays low, South takes the finesse. As it happens the finesse wins, so all is well. If the finesse lost, East would win with the blank queen. A diamond return would allow South to discard a heart while dummy ruffed; and South would later discard another heart on dummy's fifth club. If East returned a heart instead of a diamond, declarer would get a free finesse.

Even if East had Q-x-x of clubs, South would still be safe. In that case, West would discard when South led a club toward dummy. Seeing the situation, declarer would put up the king of clubs and give East his club trick. East's return would give South the slam.

Daily Question
As dealer, you hold: S-A-K-J, 8, H-Q-J-3, D-K-Q, C-10-9-8-5. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one no trump if you use strong no trumps. This shows balanced distribution and about 16 to 18 points in high cards. If you use the weak no trump, open this hand with one club.

Today's Etiquette BY LOUISE DAVIS

WANTS GODMOTHER FOR MATRON OF HONOR

I am a 51-year-old godmother for an adopted girl who is to be married in the spring. She wants me to be her matron of honor. I think I am much too old, but this has been an obsession with her since she was in her early teens. I hate to let her down and don't seem to arrive at a decision. It will be a huge wedding with eight bridesmaids. I simply can't see myself as an attendant, as deeply touched as I am. I have tactfully discussed this with the girl who says she will go along with my suggestion.

Louise Davis Answers:

As a godmother, I would say that you belong on a "parental plateau" and advise against being an attendant. Perhaps the bride will settle for a happy compromise. You could suggest to her and her mother that you be an assistant at the reception. Since you mean so much to the girl, it would even be all right for you to stand in the receiving line. If so, you would announce yourself as Mary's godmother. This would be contrary to most weddings, but under the circumstances, I think it would be very nice as it would prove that you are somebody very special to Mary.

WHAT IS "ELDERLY?"

I have been brought up to believe that a woman should rise when introduced to an elderly gentleman. Is this correct? But the word "elderly" means something quite different to women of 30 and women of 50. Please tell me how to judge.

Louise Davis Answers:

When an "elderly" gentleman seems venerable to a woman of any age I would say that is the criterion for rising.

Spunky, Pampered Pomeranian, Had Things Good in Neenah Home

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEENAH — This is a requiem for a lightweight, a little dog who is now surely in pooch heaven where things simply can't be any better than they were for him on earth.

"Spunky," a pampered Pomeranian, has shuffled off this mortal coil, but he will never be forgotten by the hundreds of people of this community who knew him, and by his former owners, Lorete and Richard Hawkinson of 433 S. Commercial St.

Lorete, known widely as an entrepreneur of beauty shops, is the proprietor of two in Neenah and is soon to open a third at Fox Point Shopping Center.

More to the point, however, is the proprietorship of the dog, Sunday, who departed this earth in July, 1960.

Loved With Fervor

"Spunky was truly an individual among pets," said Hawkinson. "Independent as a millionaire, as kind as possible and as loving as a child."

And well might the little, departed dog have been loving, for he was loved with unusual fervor by the Hawkinsons.

Spunky got his meals spoon-fed daily, and he would not eat unless he got this attentive, devoted service from Mrs. Hawkinson. He would, of course, tie into a bone in true dog-fashion, but he took his baby food, his buttered oatmeal, his vegetables and other soft foods by spoon.

But this tender care was not the only tender care proffered the little bundle of fur. His spoon-feeding was always done properly, for Spunky had a set of his own bibs. He also had a set of 12 sweaters, each of a different color.

"Spunky just loved to dress up," said Lorete.

Loved to Travel

The little dog also loved to travel, and had managed to put more miles on his dog speedometer than most people. He had traveled to the east and the west coast, and to Florida every year since 1952, the year of his birth.

He had his own little traveling bag, too, with his name printed upon it. In it were carried such necessities as his own pillow, cough medicine, hairbrush, comb, wash cloth and towel. Generally, as is the case with most travelers, his manners were almost above reproach. Only once was he barred from a motel.

* On that occasion, Hawkinson told the motel proprietor in cold, even terms that if the motel was too good for his dog, it was too good for him. And with that, he drove on to one that was not.

Had Own Hydrant

Spunky was one of the lucky dogs of this world, for he had his own Christmas tree every year and his own, specially wrapped presents. He loved to rip open the packages, too, according to his mistress.

On Easter time he had his own Easter basket, complete with goodies. Holidays were always a specially happy time for him.

One Christmas he was presented with his own ersatz fire hydrant which was used scrupulously in whatever way dogs use fire hydrants. In the summer it was placed in the back yard; in the winter it was kept in the kitchen.

Spunky was a tidy pooch, though. He had to look nice and to act nice and to smell nice, too, because Lorete is as painstaking tains 16 pages of snapshots and which is commenced with these written words:

"Our baby died July 31, 1960 and we miss him so much. He loved us and we loved him."

And the love was very real, almost touching on the pathetic. So dearly was the little Pomeranian loved that the bib he wore at the time of his last feeding is so dear to his sentimental mistress that she refuses to wash it, keeping it just as it is as a sad memento. His other clothing has been buried.

Visited Salons

Spunky, a sort of privileged character around Lorete's beauty salons, probably sat on the laps of more pretty ladies than any other dog in the country, and he was fondled and patted affectionately by Lorete's staunch, loyal customers. Some of the thoughtful ladies even sent him Christmas presents to the dog.

Besides many, many feet of motion picture film, Spunky's life and times are recorded in his own little book which con-in and procured a puppy, also a Pom, this one to be called "Li'l Miss."

The chances are good that Li'l Miss will not be forced to live a plain, old, ordinary dog's life. But chances are, too, that he will never achieve the status and the affection given to the recently departed Spunky.

Spunky is buried in the backyard of the beauty salon where the Hawkinsons live. He lies entombed in a tiny coffin in a concrete vault.

A picture of him is sunk into the granite gravestone, and these words — very real and very honest — are inscribed upon the stone:

Spunky, our dog
Born Sept. 25, 1952
Died July 31, 1960
"We Loved Him"

Farm, Food Trades Speak For UW Edifice

Middle Priority Makes Appropriation This Session Unlikely

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The State Building Commission is being prodded by agricultural and food trade spokesmen for approval of a new University of Wisconsin building that would provide space for the departments of entomology, plant pathology and forestry and wildlife management at the university.

The new building has been endorsed by the University regents and submitted to the Building Commission, but with a priority among the $62,500,000 list of desired plant improvements on the campus that makes its quick authorization unlikely.

The new building is about midway on the priority list, which means that the Legislature would be required to appropriate at least $40,000,000 from the hard-pressed state treasury to reach it during the next fiscal biennium.

Need Urgent

"The new quarters need for these departments is urgent and their ability to serve the agricultural and forest industries of the state has been greatly handicapped by the lack of facilities," said a bulletin of the Wisconsin Canners' Association today.

Some of the services are working in quarters that were barely adequate 20 years ago when the staffs were considerably smaller than they are today, said Marvin Verhulst of the association.

The proposed new building would be located adjacent to relatively new Babcock hall, the center of agriculture-dairying research and experimentation on the campus, and would cost about $4,300,000.

3 Thugs Charged With Taxing Love, Murder

SALERNO, Italy (AP) — Three young thugs are charged with taxing love in the south Italian village of San Valentino Torio.

The state prosecutor says when a suitor didn't pay the tax, he was killed.

The three youths are being tried in Salerno for the murder of a 19-year-old peasant.

The village of 7,000 population is reputed to have the most beautiful girls in all of Salerno province. Witnesses testified that the three defendants, inspired by stories of the Sicilian Mafia, imposed a tax on all suitors from neighboring villages who came to San Valentino Torio to court.

The racket was said to have worked fine until Vincenzo Esposito, of nearby Sarno, refused to pay. The prosecutor charges that the three San Valentino youths shot and killed Vincenzo last March 5 because of his refusal.

David Prosser Wins Optimist Club Award

AHS Senior Named 'Boy of the Month,' Receives Plaque

David Prosser, Appleton High School senior, Monday received the first Appleton Optimist Club "Boy of the Month" award for December.

Prosser, son of Mr. and Mrs. David T. Prosser Sr., 221 E. College Ave., received a bronze plaque with the Optimist creed awarded jointly by the noon and breakfast Optimist Clubs.

The student won the Spector Trophy given to the most promising sophomore boy, won the oratory contest in his junior year, was general chairman of the 1960 AHS Homecoming, and is on the staff of The Talisman, AHS newspaper, and president of the Young Republican Club.

Judges For Award

Judges for the award were John Dixon, manager of radio station WAPL; Victor I. Minahan, editor of the Post-Crescent, and Judge Oscar J. Schmiede, plus two members of each of the Optimist clubs. Schmiede also presented the award.

George T. Arens

Speaker was George T. Arens, a social worker who spoke on the changing role of children's institutions in this country.

Arens, a former Appleton resident, has a master's degree in psychiatric social work and spent six years as a head counselor and case worker at Father Flanagan's Boys Town. He now is director of case work for the St. Joseph Home for Children in Green Bay.

Change in Orphanages
Speaking of changes in the institution's role, Arens said there are few orphanages in Wisconsin any more, both because of medical advances to save parents' lives and because of legislation such as that in Wisconsin which prohibits putting a child under 3 in an institution but instead places him in a foster home.

With this decrease of orphanages in Wisconsin comes an increase in children with "emotional problems" shown by the increase in juvenile court cases from 350,000 in 1952 to 500,000 in 1960, Arens said.

Juvenile judges have the choice of sending youngsters to a reformatory or to a home—their own or a foster one—or an institution, and many "emotional problems" now are being referred to such places as the St. Joseph Home, he said.

Church Group Okays Interracial Marriages

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—An interracial organization of the Protestant Episcopal Church gave its approval to interracial marriages.

The group declared there are neither theological nor biological barriers to interracial marriages and that laws forbidding such marriages "are contrary to Christian teaching, natural laws and the constitution of this country."

The Episcopal Society for Cultural and Racial Unity (ESCRU) approved a memorial requesting the House of Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church to state in its next pastoral letter the position of the church concerning marriage between persons of different color.

Milwaukee Bloc Cinched Senate Minority Leadership for Moser

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The selection of youthful Sen. William Moser of Milwaukee as the new floorleader of the Democratic State Senate minority would not have been unanimous, except that the non-Milwaukee Democrats knew they could not defeat the Milwaukee bloc of senators.

Moser had the backing of his Milwaukee friends, arranged weeks ago, to clinch his selection to the top Democratic party rank in his house in spite of his junior service status.

Some influential party men had hoped for the selection of Sen. Horace Wilkie of Madison, a party veteran and close friend of Gov. Gaylord Nelson.

The State Conservation Department may note with some relief that Sen. Reuben LaFave of Oconto has been transferred from the Senate Conservation Committee to the Highway Committee.

LaFave is one of the most in-temperate of the legislative critics of the conservation administration's policies and budget practices.

The recent mention in this space that Assemblyman John Pritchard of Eau Claire is the dean of the lower house of the Legislature brought a rejoinder from Assemblyman Elmer Genzer of Mayville, in Dodge County.

Genzer reminds that his service is equal to that of Pritchard. Both are starting their 14th terms. They have something else in common. They switched party affiliations during their careers. Genzer, now a Republican, used to be a Democrat. Pritchard, now a Democrat, used to be a Republican.

Assemblyman Willis J. Hunk of Tony, veteran representative of Rusk, Sawyer and Washburn counties, is likely to occupy the speaker's chair in the Assembly more than the speaker pro tempore would normally expect. Speaker David Blanchard is in frail health and is required to take frequent rest periods. Mrs. Blanchard, in constant attendance in the chamber, solicitously guards her husband against excessive labor and strain.

Tax Commissioner John Gronouski, now being considered among others for the post of internal revenue commissioner in the new national Kennedy administration, will be released reluctantly by Gov. Nelson.

Gronouski is a key figure in the inner circle of the Nelson ad-

Former Missionary Says

Political Unrest Felt In Northern Rhodesia

One can feel political unrest in Northern Rhodesia says a Fox Valley Lutheran High School teacher who returned to America six months ago after being a missionary in Africa for 10 years.

The Rev. Edward Greve spent most of his missionary career in Nigeria, and went to Northern Rhodesia, just south of the Congo's Katanga province, at the beginning of 1959.

Managed Schools
Pastor Greve's experience included work both in central mission stations and in "the bush," alone among the natives. His wife's nursing training came in handy, he said, where sanitary conditions are poor and disease common. The Africans have built up immunity to many diseases, he said.

Rev. Edward Greve

In spite of the many children in Nigerian schools, there still are many who are not, Pastor Greve said, pointing out that there are from 300 to 500 people per square mile. In Rhodesia, in contrast, population is only about five per square mile.

A white face has become a hindrance in Rhodesia, Pastor Greve said. The population there is segregated in three and sometimes four ways. One can see a comfort station with six doors—two each for Africans, Asians and whites.

Anti-Segregation Laws
Laws against segregation in Africa have had about as much effect as rulings of the U.S. Supreme Court have had in our South, the new FVL religion teacher said.

Pastor Greve pointed out that there are many permanent white residents in Rhodesia and other African nations. These people's farms, which look much like those in Wisconsin, are interspersed with native villages of mud huts.

The former missionary joined the FVL faculty after Christmas vacation. He and his wife and two children, who were born in Nigeria, live at 829 E. Glendale Ave. in Appleton.

Youth Fined $20 in Court for Fighting
NEW LONDON — Charles J. Meshnick, 20, 607 Mill St., pleaded guilty of fighting Monday morning when he was arraigned before Police Justice of the Peace Paul Plowman. He was fined $25.

Meshnick was arrested by the city police following an incident Saturday night at the American Legion clubhouse.

AHS Bandette to Play
The Appleton High School Bandette, 45 members of the AHS Band, will perform for the Lincoln School Parent-Teachers Association at 8 p.m. Thursday. The group, directed by Frank Comella, will demonstrate steps in learning music.

TIMES CHANGE...

For more than 40 years the Appleton Post-Crescent has been a reading habit to families throughout the Fox Cities.

In that same span of years the newspaper has made hundreds of changes designed to make it more readable and more interesting.

Now, another change will be affected by the Post-Crescent after many months of planning and study. Starting Monday, January 23, the Post-Crescent will offer its readers an enlarged product with a bigger society section, a larger sports section, with a more comprehensive roundup of the news of the day.

It is a sincere attempt to keep up with the growth of the communities it serves. Little by little, but very noticeably, the interests of the Fox Cities have become unified.

The planned changes in the Post-Crescent reflect this unity, this growth. Instead of a segmented newspaper which tends to accentuate waning separate interests, the NEW Post-Crescent will present the news without regard to community lines.

We know you'll find it more interesting, more readable, more informative.

Ex-Hospital Chief Named To Foundation

Griffiths Will Join Johnson Charity As Administrator

Trustees of The Johnson Foundation have announced the appointment of Robert E. Griffiths as director of administration for the foundation. Griffiths will assume his duties in the newly created position Thursday. As director of administration, he will be responsible for administrative services of the foundation and management of Wingspread, the foundation's educational conference center.

Griffiths recently served as administrator of Appleton Memorial Hospital, a post he had held since 1955. He served as administrator of Burlington Memorial Hospital from 1950 to 1955. Both hospitals engaged in major building projects while he served as administrator.

Larger Program
The appointment of Griffiths as director of administration reflects the expansion of program activities of The Johnson Foundation, including those involving the use of Wingspread as an educational conference center, according to Leslie Paffrath, foundation president.

Payment to Street Workers Recommended

Committee Asks Reimbursement for Afternoon Off

Granting of the Teamsters' Union request that Appleton Street Department workers get paid for the afternoon they were given off before Christmas was recommended to the City Council by a 3-2 vote of the Street and Sanitation Committee Monday afternoon.

Union agent Robert Schlieve came to the meeting with a pack of time cards from Dec. 31, 1959, which showed that street workers worked six hours that New Year's Eve and were paid for nine. The cards were initiated EJD. Director of Public Works Edwin J.

him by campaign committees in every county of the state with signatures of more than 30,000 registered voters. Two thousand signatures are required by law for nomination to the office.

Rothwell also announced the formation of a new state-wide committee of 488 educators backing him in his campaign. The committee is made up of school superintendents, principals, administrators, and teachers.

Duszynski this year refused to authorize payment for the men after they had been dismissed from work after lunch on Dec. 23. Duszynski maintained that he had acted rightly in refusing to pay for work not done on the Friday afternoon this winter. The day before a holiday is not listed in work rules as a paid holiday, he pointed out.

Offers to Negotiate
Nothing in the rules prevents the city from giving employees an afternoon off with pay. Schlieve said, offering to negotiate with the committee to work out a policy to prevent misunderstandings in the future.

The committee had three choices, it was pointed out: 1. To pay the street workers for the three hours, which might be considered unfair to employees who worked but were not paid extra.

2. To allow the men to make up the pay they were docked by letting them work three extra hours. They would be paid time-and-a-half.

3. Not to pay them. Either of the last two alternatives might be considered unfair to the street workers because other city employees, such as those in city hall and the park department, got time off with pay, it was said.

Voting to pay the men were Aldermen Thomas K. Schneider, Austin Tucker and John A. Schumacher. Against paying were Ald. R. P. Groh, who had moved to

Prof. Walter to Speak at Jaycees Award Banquet

Lawrence College's Versatile Person-Football Star and Poet

NEENAH—Prof. George Walter, director of teacher education at Lawrence College, will speak at the 22nd annual Neenah-Menasha Junior Chamber of Commerce Distinguished Service Award Banquet at 6:30 p.m. Monday at the Menasha Elks Club.

The outstanding young man of the Twin Cities of 1960 will be honored, along with three outstanding high school senior boys who will receive meritorious service awards.

Versatility is perhaps the best word to describe Prof. Walter. A college professor during the school year, Prof. Walter swings an axe and hikes the trails of Glacier Park during the summer for the National Park Service.

Football Star

Prof. Walter was a football star in both high school and college, earning all-conference honors at Lawrence College. He also is a talented actor, playing leading roles with the Racine Theatre Guild, Valley Players and Atlantic Theater.

However, he feels that the highest achievement of his undergraduate days was being chosen College Poet Laureate.

Prof. Walter served as principal of Washington Park High School in Racine for four years and was dean of men at Lawrence College for eight years.

He also has coached high school and college football and officiated in football and basketball.

Prof. Walter completed his graduate work at Ohio State after graduating from Lawrence College. He will speak on "No Man Is An Island."

Neenah Supervisor Calls Port Split Distressing, 20-Year Throwback

OSHKOSH — The artificial split between Neenah-Menasha and the rest of Winnebago County is distressing and a throwback to 20 years ago, Neenah's First Ward Supv. H. formal hearings appeals from R. Moore wrote findings, more informal hearings the Winnebago County Board and negotiations, legislative hearings, drafting and passage of state bills; letters to congressmen, federal aviation agency hearings and action, appeals from determination, state and federal budget consideration, more public hearings and, perhaps, finally, approval.

Cooperated Once

Winnebago County. Moore declares, already has evidenced a willingness to cooperate with Outagamie County in the building of the Fox Valley Center of the University of Wisconsin.

Moore concludes with several statements which possibly indicate the door to a joint airport is not finally closed.

"In the paper industry, we do not delay installing a guarding system on a paper machine to safeguard the lives of our employees just because we plan to rebuild that machine five years from now.

Lashes Appleton

Time Gap

"With a time gap that can only be estimated in years from initial planning to completion—with an admitted need for improvements to an already excellent, existing airport; I think we must take this stand.

"We need today's airport today. We should make well-considered plans for tomorrow's airport with all possible speed, efficiency and economy. But we must not destroy either or both, today's nor tomorrow's, in the process."

Moore's letter deplors "the designs and plays which have succeeded in setting many an old friend against friend, encouraged enmity, defection, recrimination and retaliatory action in a once progressive, cooperative community.

Lashes Back

"Since the advent of air travel, Appleton, unlike Winnebago County, has been unable to persuade her county to progress with adequate airport facilities. Because we will not precipitously abandon our progress in her favor, Appleton now lashes back at us with behind-the-scenes political maneuvering and power politics that right-thinking citizens avoid and abhor."

Moore points out that he is a pilot and he and other pilots "put tongue in cheek at criticism of the safety of our airport's approaches."

Haas Tells Group:

Congo Crisis Result of History, Pressures of Independence Ideas

NEENAH — "There is a tremendous rising tide of color against all whites in Africa," Grant C. Haas, president, Wisconsin division, American Association for the United Nations, reported in a talk before an organizational meeting of the Neenah - Menasha chapter of the AAUN Monday night at the Neenah - Menasha YWCA.

Speaking on the Congo crisis, Haas said the person for the public to keep their eye on is Tshombe, leader in the secessionist Katanga province.

Katanga province, he said, takes in one-fifth of the Congo and is one of the richest areas in the world. It is the only area in the Congo suitable for raising catle, produces most of the uranium, has the second richest supply of copper in the world and is rich in other precious minerals, including diamonds and gold.

Haas outlined the history of the trouble in the Congo, dating from 1885 when the territory was given to the king of Belgium.

To understand the situation, he said, Americans would have to dispel many romantic — and mistaken — notions about the world.

First, he said, is that it is the "free" world against the communist world. Half of the so-called free world is ruled by dictators, he added.

Secondly, he went on, is the concept of "peace loving" nations. All nations are peace loving, he said, even Russia if they can have their own way.

Thirdly is the mistaken notion of "equal rights of all citizens." This, he said, is disproven right here in our country.

Haas explained some of the physical and cultural aspects of the Congo. It has an area of 902,000 square miles, equal to all of the United States east of the Mississippi River.

Katanga province is the only area with good roads, railroads and access to the sea.

Five Languages
There are five distinct languages in the Congo with dozens of dialects in each language. Religions are fetishes.

"Ninety-nine per cent of the Congolese have no concept of what a nation is," Haas said. They must be indoctrinated with a national concept and where they are located in relation with the rest of the world.

Great brutalities took place in the Congo, he said, until about 1907 when the territory was taken away from the king and placed under control of the Belgium government. From the time of World War I until after the second World War was an era of great exploitation of the Congo, he added.

He said the Belgium public was conscious of the Congo only as a great big business. Two big corporations controlled operations.

Big Drop
On July 1, 1960 stock in these corporations sold at $1,600 a share. That was the day Congo was given independence. On Aug. 1 the stock had dropped to $32 a share. Many people were put out of work because of the Congo situation, he said.

This attitude toward the Congo did not change until a few years ago when pressure forced a revision in policy, he said.

Haas attributed the breakdown in Congo to a lack of preparation by the Belgians. Only 16 Congolese had college training, he said. There were no trained native army officers or upper echelon government workers.

Red Infiltration
Communist infiltration started about 1950, Haas reported. The Reds have attempted to establish an overland route from Moscow to the Congo. Control of the Congo would then give the Communists a jumping off point to South America.

Communism as an ideology is not affecting the Congolese, he said, most of them have no conception of communism or capitalism. What the communists are doing is instilling a distrust of western whites.

Haas backedtracked from the Congo situation to attempt to explain why Belgium was not more active in attempting to keep a hold on the Congo.

Tired Continent
"Europe is a tired continent," he said, "Belgium wanted to keep what it had without exerting itself. It is a tired culture that has reached its zenith and has lost its dynamics."

He said the United States could no longer expect anything dynamic from Europe and Moscow knows this. Haas said France was a dying culture and that it would never rise to prominence again.

Some of the lessons the west should have learned from the Congo, he said, are that we must try to organize and present a solid front to the communists, develop

Proposes Park, Recreation Plan for Town

Recommendations For Rural Neenah Area Presented

NEENAH — Recommendations for a possible park and recreation program were outlined to the Town of Neenah Board Monday night by an advisory committee named by the board. The board at its meeting next Monday night will pass an ordinance legally setting up a park and recreation committee.

Mrs. William Burger presented the committee's recommendations and invited the town board members to a meeting with Recreation Director William Miller of Neenah and Neenah park and recreation board members, who also are being invited, at the Lakeview School on Jan. 24 to discuss park planning.

The committee's recommendations will be brought up at the town's annual meeting April 4 for consideration.

Budget Proposed
One of these recommendations is $950 as a budget for a summer playground program at both the Tullar and Lakeview Schools. A director would need to be secured to divide his time between the two schools.

Acquisition of land in the town for parks was another recommendation and Town Chairman Laurel Heaney said the regional planner would be preparing a map for possible parks. Uses of land which would include parks and he suggested action be deferred until after a meeting with the planner.

Also recommended was a meeting with Neenah officials regarding possible use or acquisition of the fresh air camp as a swimming site, a nature preserve in some wooded area and public lake access. Encouragement should be given anyone wishing to start a private golf course, the committee thought.

Bergstrom Chief Chemist Named To Sales Position

NEENAH — Appointment of David F. Petersen, chief chemist, to a position in the sales department has been announced by Bergstrom Paper Co. He will be located at the Highway 41 office.

"The concept of a technician for the sales department is new for Bergstrom Paper Co.," Burt B. Fisher, vice president for sales, stated. "As we visualize them at present, his duties will be essentially two-fold. First, to organize a sales training program and see that it is continuing and effective. Second, to assist and advise sales people on all matters of a technical nature."

Petersen joined Bergstrom in 1927, is a Neenah resident and married and the father of one son, David J. Petersen.

A Walker Hydraulic Transmission Jack has proved to be an efficient "helpmate" at Dan Luebke's Cities Service, corner of Third and Racine streets, Menasha. The station is one of the most complete automotive service stations in the area. Shown above are Luebke (left) and Chuck Hanson at work on a Merco-Matic transmission which has been affixed atop the jack. Automatic transmissions, including Hydra-Matic, Power Glide, Fordomatic and Ultra-Matic, can be repaired in much quicker time because of the Walker jack. This, in turn, means lower labor costs for the motorist who gets his car back sooner. The experienced Luebke, whose background includes nearly 23 years as a mechanic, garage owner and service manager, also offers brake relining, valve and carburetor work plus many other repair services. His assistant, Hanson, has had 15 years experience in the automotive repair field. "About the only thing we don't do is body work," Dan says. All Cities Service quality products are featured at the station including powerful 5-D gasoline and 5-D all-purpose, all weather motor oil. The super 5-D gasoline, finest premium gasoline in the Midwest, is perfectly suited for high compression cars. It has extra high octane and is anti-rust, anti-carbon, anti-stalling and is an upper cylinder lubricant. Twin City motorists who are looking for a truly complete station are urged to stop in at their convenience, talk over any automotive problem with Dan or Chuck. A pick-up and delivery service is maintained and motorists may call PA 2-2947.

Does your house seem dingy and drab since you took down the Christmas decorations? Do you wish you could add sparkle to every room, a little zest to the decor?

Elmer Bohlmann of Bohlmann's Inc., 110 Main Street, Neenah, has the answer for you. And it needn't take another wallop at the old budget which is probably still badly stretched because of St. Nick's recent visit.

Bohlmann suggests that readers stop in and see the exciting new selections of wallpapers and the hundreds and hundreds of beautiful shades and tones of fine quality paint. A little paint will go a long way to beautify and pep up your home, according to Bohlmann's, and the firm says to do this indoor work now because in the spring you will want to be outside.

Change the color scheme in any room in your house and see how it will pick up the spirits of the whole family. Try a neutral shade this time, or a bold, flashing color, or a soft delicate pastel. Be new, be different, be you, Bohlmann urges.

Don't be afraid to tackle the job yourself. Bohlmann's will do anything possible to help the home painter or paper hanger, right from expert advice, fine quality materials, and any do-it-yourself equipment for rent.

It's Easy to Enlarge Cartoons

By Using Method of Squares

BY CAPPY DICK

Even with no talent for drawing, almost any boy or girl can have a lot of fun reproducing or enlarging cartoons simply by using a pencil.

It's done with squares—little squares drawn first over the picture chosen for reproduction and also drawn lightly on the paper where the drawing is to be reproduced. The reproduction can be made the same size as the original picture, or smaller, or larger, depending upon the squares. We'll start with the way to make an enlargement.

Select a figure you would like to draw from your favorite comic strip. The funny band leader in Figure 1 is an example. Over this picture draw a series of squares, make them all the same size. Use your ruler and pencil. Let the squares be one quarter-inch wide and one quarter-inch deep. The result will appear as in Figure 1.

On a sheet of blank paper, draw an equal number of squares, but make them each half an inch wide and half an inch deep. The result should look like Figure 2.

When you have drawn the squares on your paper, you are ready to begin making an enlargement of the picture you have selected. Simply lay the original picture and the blank paper side by side and, with pencil, draw in each large square the line that appears in the corresponding small square of the original picture. Study Figures 1 and 2 and you will see how it is done. Because the line passing through any square is quite short, it is easy to make your pencil perform with pleasing accuracy.

As an experiment, try reproducing the boy's face shown in Figure 3. First count the squares covering the face. Draw an equal number of larger squares on a blank paper. Then draw the re-

Solve String Of Burglaries In Menasha

NEENAH GROCERY Money Theft Also Cleared Up

MENASHA — A 2-month-old string of burglaries and other mischief was cleared up Monday by Menasha police, who apprehended seven boys 11 to 16 years of age involved in the misdeeds in various combinations.

Most of the money, tools, liquor and beer and other loot has been returned to owners.

County police plan to question the boys on several unsolved break-ins and thefts in the rural Twin Cities area.

Oldest unsolved incident had been Chemical Supply Co., Railroad street, reported to police Nov. 14, when cigars were taken from a vending machine which was damaged.

Minor office supplies, two carving sets and money were taken from the Memorial Building over the Christmas weekend. Four vending machines were damaged, one yielding money.

Four of the seven admitted last Friday's burglary of Bogard grocery store, 208 W. Wisconsin Ave., Neenah, to Menasha police. Up to $550 in cash was taken there. Much of the money, which had been split four ways, was recovered.

Friday night's activities for the group also included three Menasha break-ins in a small area of the Third Ward. They took money, beer, wine, brandy and soda water from Brantmeier beer depot, 350 Ahnapp St.; smashed a bicycle in Nicolet School; and stole tools owned by contractors and their employees at the new St. Patrick convent on Nicolet boulevard.

Over the weekend some also broke into a semitrailer van on the Marathon parking lot, near the other three burglaries, and took some materials.

Cash stolen from the home of Mrs. Erna Schierl, 341 Cleveland St., also has been recovered from some boys.

Police Chief Peter P. Clark, who commended his men for solving the incidents, said he had arranged with Street Supt. Evan Baldwin to have a small shack in a tree near the Marathon parking lot destroyed. Much loot was recovered in the shack.

The boys may face juvenile court action, Clark said.

A complete tabulation of the loot is not available.

Sears, Roebuck and Co. is asking the city of Appleton for permission to build a canopy over the sidewalk as part of a store front remodeling project at 312 W. College Ave.

Plans for the project include a stainless steel canopy that would extend about eight feet out from the wall; glass and aluminum doors; brick planter boxes inside the doors; ceramic tile stools; railings; and removal of the back wall of the display area.

A spokesman said the company wants to begin work early next month.

South River Water Main to Be Replaced

Commission Plans To Do Work Before Street Is Repaired

The Appleton Water Commission plans to replace the water main on E. South River Street this year before the street is resurfaced between Oneida and E. John Streets.

The commission agreed yesterday to advertise for bids after the next meeting, when it will be decided whether to ask for bids for the complete job or separate bids for labor and equipment and for materials.

There have been many breaks in the South River Street main, it was reported.

The commission asked for more information about radio equipment for trucks. Members wanted to know about relative costs of buying or renting various kinds of short wave apparatus.

Would Speed Work

Radio would speed expediting water department trucks to trouble spots in the water system, it was suggested. The growing area of the city makes this more important than it was in the past, department officials said.

The commission voted to advertise for bids on 3,000 pounds, a year's supply, of sodium chloride for water purification.

It also voted to enter a contract with the Tennessee Corp., Atlanta, Ga., for ferric sulphate. The firm is the only supplier of the coagulant, of which Appleton uses three carloads a year. The price under contract is $34.25 a ton, or $1 a ton less than without a contract.

Site Too Small

The commission referred a $5,500 water tower site offer by Chester Meiers to the site committee. The 67-by 144-foot lot is not big enough, said William U. Gallaher, plant superintendent.

Gallaher told the commission that replacing a main across the Fox River at the former John Street bridge would be a greater task than was expected. It was suggested that a main be placed from Alton Court to the Western Condensing processing plant instead, but no action was taken.

Reelect All Officers of First National

MENASHA — All officers of the First National Bank of Menasha were reelected Saturday by the directors at their organizational meeting.

Leo Croy was renamed chairman of the board, a post to which he was named a year ago.

K. C. Kimball, president for the last year and executive vice president two years before, also was reelected.

Other officers are A. F. Landig and R. M. Sensenbrenner, vice presidents; M. C. Malchow, cashier; and Barbara Ciske, auditor.

The directors promoted Glen Malchow to assistant cashier.

Directors were reelected last week by stockholders.

Combined Locks To Pay Dividend On Class B Stock

An initial quarterly dividend of 20 cents on Class B common stock was declared at a directors' meeting of Combined Locks Paper Co.

This dividend is payable March 10 to stockholders of record Feb. 10. This is in addition to the regular 25 cents quarterly dividend on class A stock.

Raymond P. Fischer, company chairman, announced that estimated earnings for the current fiscal year ending Feb. 28 should closely approach last year's earnings of $2.48 a share. Total annual dividends will be about 40 percent of this amount.

Cash resources for the company will be strengthened by increased depreciation allowances for tax purposes based on large capital expenditures in recent years and by completing the redemption of the remaining preferred stock of Combined Locks and its wholly owned subsidiary, the D. M. Bare Paper Co. of Roaring Springs, Pa., before the end of the fiscal year ending Feb. 28, 1962, thus reducing cash requirements for sinking fund and preferred dividends.

Highways Found To be Deficient

But This Doesn't Necessarily Mean Higher Taxes, Group Says

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — A legislative highway study committee reported Monday that the state needs $2.3 billion for overcoming deficiencies in Wisconsin roads, but warned that this does not forecast higher taxes for motorists.

The committee received from its staff a long-awaited research document showing that about half of all public road mileage in the state fails to meet standards it set in consultation with state highway engineers. The staff has not completed projections of estimated highway revenues of state and local governments for the decade ahead.

Robert Huber, West Allis assemblyman, Democratic leader and study group chairman, said it may require three or four months to complete the financial projections of the study for submission to the legislature. If the report does not reach the law makers until late spring, it is unlikely that it will bring about significant legislative action this year.

Plus Maintenance

The document appeared to show a deficit between highway sufficiency money needs and prospective income for roads, but Otto C. Rollman of Green Bay, who assisted in its preparation, said the deficit would be less than might be assumed.

He conceded that the report did not take into account ordinary maintenance costs of the highway network of the state, which when computed will push the total of money needs considerably higher.

Maintenance budgets of state and local governments have been rising rapidly under cost pressures. The report documented what

Trinity Church To Get Plan For Expansion

Resolution Passed At Annual Meeting Sets May Deadline

A resolution calling for a preliminary architect's plan for church expansion was passed by Trinity Lutheran Church members at the annual business meeting Monday night.

The building resolution also calls for expanding the present executive building committee to include subcommittees of finance, promotion, and furnishings. The architect's master plan study is to be presented to the congregation at a special meeting no later than May 15.

New church council members elected are Henry Starck, Merrick Nelson, Dennis Wilch, Emil Eliason and J. N. Otteson.

Council members elected trustees are Harold Adams, Miles Hanna and Dr. J. T. Mohr.

Budget Adopted

The budget of $44,901 for local expenditures for 1961 was adopted. The church again will give financial support to Missionary Louis T. Bowers, who works in Liberia. Bowers will be at the church Jan. 29 and will preach at the three morning services.

The congregation passed an amendment to the constitution regarding members who "neglect the means of grace and refuse to support the church." Under the new amendment, if this neglect continues for one year, these members' names will be removed from the roll of the congregation.

A pictorial cross was presented to Rev. K. W. Wagner, assistant pastor, by Rev. Ralph Sandren, new pastor of Our Saviour's Evangelical Lutheran Church, and David Schuster, president of Our Saviour's church council. Pastor Wagner served Our Saviour's Church when it was without a pastor.

Three Neopit Youths Arrested In Stolen Car

Three Neopit youths, two 14 and one 15, were arrested by State Patrolman LeRoy Goettler on Highway 45 near New London last night with a car they admitted stealing in Shawano.

The youths told Goettler they were leaving home and were headed for Milwaukee. The trio had purchased gasoline with their last 90 cents and told Goettler when they ran out of gasoline they intended to take another car.

They were returned to Shawano County authorities by Outagamie County police. Goettler said he stopped the car because of a faulty taillight and held the youths for driving without a license until they could be turned over to county police.

Iowa's league-leading Hawkeyes paying little attention to the fact that Ohio State is the nation's No. 1 team and a hands-down favorite to win the Big Ten basketball title, keep rolling along.

The surprising Hawkeyes came from behind and defeated Illinois, 78-71, at Iowa City Monday night for their fourth conference victory without defeat.

Iowa now has two more victories than Ohio State, Indiana and Purdue who also are undefeated in conference play and tied for second with 2-0 marks. Ohio

Ingemar Lists Reasons for His Title Loss

Arrives To Begin
Preparations for March 13 Rematch

NEW YORK (AP) — Ingemar Johansson has a secret and he's not telling a soul.

"I know for sure what I did wrong in my last fight with Floyd Patterson," he said today, "but let it be a secret with me."

Then he proceeded to list an armful of reasons why Patterson won the heavyweight championship from him with a fifth-round knockout last June 20.

1. He fought too many exhibitions after winning the title from Patterson in 1959, and that made things too easy for him.

2. He lost six pounds the night before the fight and entered the ring at 192. This time he wants to hit 196 or 198.

3. Anyhow, it was a sucker punch that caught him on the button.

Arrived Monday Johansson arrived Monday night from Paris, and will attend the New York Boxing Writers dinner tonight where Patterson will get the Boxer of the Year award. Then he heads for Florida to look for a training camp. The third go in their series is scheduled for Miami Beach on March 13.

"I've looked at the films of the fight many times," said Johansson and I still don't know how I ever got caught with that punch. It never happened to me before and I don't intend to let it happen this time.

"After all, I knocked Floyd out once and floored him in the second fight. I'm sure I'll win this one. I've knocked him out a thousand times in my dreams and I know they'll come true."

Maybe the dreams told him what would happen to Patterson?

"Nope," he answered, "I can't tell what would happen to me. I know I'll beat him."

Seven said he had been boxing eight or eight rounds a day and doing five or six miles of roadwork a day for the past two months.

Former Heavyweight Champion Ingemar Johansson shows he packs a wallop as he kayoes a snowball on arrival at New York's Idlewild airport Monday night. Airline employee Olga Leard holds snow for the gag. "Ingo" said he was ready to start "hard training" for his rematch with champion Floyd Patterson March 13 in Miami Beach, Fla.

Vikings Seek First Triumph In 5 Years Against Knights

Visit Van Dyke Gym Wednesday;
St. Norbert Averages 81.8 Points

The highest-scoring basketball team in St. Norbert College history stands between Lawrence and a first-semester record of 500.

If the Vikes are to attain the 6-6 level in their 8 p.m. Wednesday invasion of Van Dyke Gym, West De Pere, they'll have to snap a pair of losing streaks. Their current season reverse string has reached three, and their successive defeats at the hands of St. Norbert number four.

Despite their losing (4-7) record, the Green Knights are averaging 81.8 points a game—the best in the school's history. Of late, the Knights have brought their defensive skill up near the caliber of their attack. The result has been four wins in the last five starts.

Wisneski to Start
Coach Romie Kosnar's St. Norbert starters are slightly taller than Lawrence's. Dave Heisig (at 6-foot-5) will open at center, with 4-foot-10 John Koprowski and 6-3 Stu Jansen at the forwards, and 6-1 Ron Braut and 5-10 Mike Wisneski at the guards.

Braut and Koprowski are repeating the offensive fireworks that characterized their high school play at Two Rivers. Braut is averaging 22.3 points—exactly his rate of last season—while Koprowski's average is 17.0.

Wisneski, a sophomore from Menasha, scored 15 points last Saturday against Loras despite foot troubles which have plagued him of late.

Lawrence and St. Norbert have played no common foe to date. Besides beating Loras, the Knights have decided Oshkosh State, Lakeland and Michigan Tech.

Last season, the Knights wallowed Lawrence, 88-60, with Braut counting 32 points. Loren Wolf was high for the Vikes with 16.

Lowest Total
In 1958-9, when the current Vike starters were sophomores, St. Norbert won, 77-63. Jim Rasmussen led the Vikes with 17 points. That 77 points constitutes the lowest Knight total in the four years since the series was renewed.

Lawrence's Don Boya sustained the first of his three coaching losses (87-65) against St. Norbert in 1957-8. St. Norbert also won, 95-86, in 1956-7.

The Vikes still hold a slim overall edge (7 to 6) in the St. Norbert series.

Boya will start his all-season array of Jim Rasmussen, Wolf and Joe Lamers in the forefront, and Jim Schulze, and Chuck Knoke in the backcourt.

Gibbons wrote that Nick Pietrosante (Lion fullback) carried "the ball well when he was in there. When we got near the goal line Coach Vince Lombardi made sure Jim Taylor was in at fullback. Lombardi figured Taylor knew the Green Bay 'veer trap' play a little better. I guess he did. Taylor scored three touchdowns to break the Pro Bowl record."

Gibbons also mentioned that fourth-down gamble in the last quarter. "Late in the game we had inches to go on fourth down. All the players wanted to go for the first down. We were willing to gamble our $200 on it. Lombardi wouldn't let us go for it. He ordered a punt. It turned out he was right."

West won, 35-31, and the winning players each received $800 against the losers' $600. Gibbons added:

"Lombardi was an easy coach to play for. At the half he told us we were playing good (21-17 lead) and said not to let down. After the game, he came around and shook the hand of every player in our dressing room."

Mike Wisneski, sophomore guard from Menasha, will start for the St. Norbert College basketball team against Lawrence Wednesday night.

McRoberts Takes MC Scoring Lead

Rasmussen Ranks
Fifth With
17-Point Rate

Monmouth's Clair McRoberts, who scored 41 points against Grinnell last weekend, has taken over the Midwest Conference's individual scoring lead.

McRoberts, who set a new Scott gym and team record with his outburst, is averaging 23.5 points for each of the first eight conference games. Ripon's Mike Mullen is second, with a 20.4 average.

Lawrence's Jim Rasmussen (17.0) and Chuck Knoke (16.0) rank fifth and ninth, respectively, on the scoring list.

Only three conference games are scheduled between now and Feb. 4, when second-semester play starts. Tonight Carleton (6-2) has a chance to break a first place tie with Cornell when it plays host to St. Olaf (5-3), and Monmouth invades Knox.

Coe plays at Beloit Saturday night.

Weaver Will Return As Foxes' Manager

Spahn Hopes to Reach 300-Victory Circle Before Early Wynn

Warren Receives
'Pitcher of Decade'
Award in Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Warren Spahn, The Milwaukee Braves' southpaw great, is out to beat Early "Gus" Wynn of the Chicago White Sox to the charmed, 300 victory mark.

"I've got to get No. 300 before Gus," Spahn said in discussing his personal rivalry Monday before the 8th annual "Tops in Sports" dinner.

"We've been kidding each other about No. 300 for quite a while," Spahn said. "When I won by 200th game in Chicago a few years back, Wynn invited me to his home to celebrate with a drink from a mug he was awarded for his 200th victory."

Spahn, who will be 40 shortly after the start of the 1961 campaign, boosted his victory total to 283 with 21 triumphs last season. Wynn won only 13, boosting his career output to 284.

A Big Jump
Acutally, Wynn had a big jump on Spahn. The White Sox right-hander posted his first major league triumph with Washington in 1941, while Spahn didn't earn his initial victory until he returned from World War II in 1946.

Spahn, who is seeking to become the 13th pitcher to hit the 300-victory mark and the first since Lefty Grove 20 years ago, was honored by the Maryland Professional Baseball Writers Association as the "Pitcher of the Decade." All but 86 of his triumphs have been during the past 10 years.

He will be honored next Sunday at the annual dinner of the Milwaukee baseball writers for his no-hitter, the first of his brilliant career, against Philadelphia last September.

In explaining his pitching strategy, Spahn said that he employs "the element of surprise" because he lacks "an overpowering pitch to get a batter out."

"In a tight situation, I would rather use a pitch that has not been going too well during the game than to help the batter guess my next delivery," he said.

"If I can throw four possible pitches, the batter has only one chance in four to guess correctly."

Braves Get
Neil Chrisley

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves Monday completed a deal with the Detroit Tigers by acquiring outfielder Neil Chrisley for their Louisville farm in the American Association.

Chrisley, a 28-year-old veteran who bats left, was transferred from the Tigers' Denver farm to Louisville to complete the Dec. 7 trade in which the Braves obtained second baseman Frank Bolling for centerfielder Billy Bruton and three others.

Also Named Training Camp Boss

The Baltimore Orioles announced today that Earl Weaver will return as manager of the Fox Cities Foxes this year.

Weaver, in 1960, guided the Foxes—a Baltimore minor league affiliate — to their first Three-I League pennant. He becomes the first manager in the club's 4-year history to return for a second season.

The official word that Weaver will be back came from Harry Dalton, the Orioles' new farm director. Dalton will take over formally Feb. 1 when the resignation of Jim McLaughlin becomes effective. The 32-year-old Dalton has been McLaughlin's assistant for seven years.

First Modern Pennant
The 30-year-old Weaver has been in professional baseball for 13 years, the last four of which have been spent as a manager. Last year, he culminated a progressive climb from fourth place to first by leading the Foxes to the Fox Cities area's first modern pro baseball championship.

Weaver made it a double-barreled pennant year by directing the Baltimore entry to the top of the Arizona Winter League.

From his home in Richmond Heights, Mo., Weaver said he is happy about coming back to the Fox Cities. He also said that his wife and their three children (Mike, 10; Rhonda Lee, 9; and Theresa Ann, 3) were looking forward to returning this summer since they had made a lot of friends here.

Weaver said he hopes all of the 1960 Foxes will be promoted to Turn to Page 7 Col. 4

4.6-Yard Average to 3.3

Jim Taylor Outshines Jim Brown In First Meeting of Top Fullbacks

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — "How many did Brown get?"

When the Packers won, Jim Taylor would ask that question along with a lot of his teammates. He merely wanted to know how many yards Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns gained, since the two Jims were running neck and neck through most of the season in the yards-rushing race.

Brown won the chase with his 1,257 yards while Taylor was second on 1,101 yards, which broke Tony Canadeo's 11-year-old Packers mark.

Taylor, a three-year veteran who has played just one complete season, and Brown, who has led the league in rushing in each of his four pro years, had never been on the same field until the Pro Bowl game in Los Angeles Sunday.

Rushes 13 Times
What happened? Brown rushed 15 times, Taylor 14. And the Bays' Jim won the battle of net yards, 60 to 50.

Taylor picked up 62 yards and lost 2 for a net of 60 and an average of 4.61. Brown gained 63 yards but lost 13 for his net of 50 and a 3.33-yard average.

Taylor can thank a Packer teammate for part of Brown's 230 pounds with the quickness losses. Packer defense tackle of a scaback.

Hank Jordan slipped through the East line once and ankle Brown for a six-yard loss.

Brown and Taylor finished the 1960 season in a scoring tie, each getting 11 touchdowns, but there was no contest in the Pro Bowl.

Taylor scored three TDs and Brown went scoreless as Norm Van Brocklin stayed in the air.

The TV station offered an interesting comparison of the two fullbacks and the "defensive backs" seem to be correct. Defense backs who played against both Taylor and Brown, especially the Eagles who faced Taylor in the championship game, claim that Taylor hits harder than Brown but that the Cleveland star has more speed.

The closeups showed Taylor's amazing power under piles and especially near the goal line.

Mickey Mantle Feels He Hasn't Yet Reached His True Playing Potential

NEW YORK (AP)—Is Mickey Mantle going to be baseball's next $100,000 a year baseball player?

"We hope so," said General Manager Roy Hamey of the New York Yankees after signing his star centerfielder to a $75,000 contract Monday. "We'd like nothing better than to pay—that is, if Mickey shows he's worth it."

"I don't doubt he will. Casey Stengel always insisted the boy was going to make it."

Mantle's new contract is the best he has signed in his 11 years with the Yankee organization—a $10,000 hike over the reduced wage he got last year.

Mickey, 29, said he felt he had not reached his real potential as a player. "I don't remember when I have felt better at this stage," he said. "I ought to have my best year."

He added that he had disposed of a Dallas bowling alley, which caused him some concern last year, and had divested himself of all outside interests which might take his mind off baseball.

"I still have a small hand in a motel (Joplin, Mo.) and a boat company (Henderson, Tex.) but I'm letting other people worry about them," Mickey said. "I have no other business now but baseball."

At $75,000, Mantle is the highest paid performer in the American League and only a notch below

Cowboy Five Drops Kansas From Lead

Iba's Son Cinches Win; Tar Heels Cop Ninth Straight

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kansas State was all alone at the top of the Big Eight basketball conference today after Oklahoma State's Cowboys rode herd on Kansas and knocked the Jayhawks out of first place.

Tenth ranked Kansas State, beaten in a playoff last spring by Kansas for the right to enter the NCAA tournament, is primed to meet Kansas in a major showdown Friday night on the Jayhawk court at Lawrence. Last month in the Big Eight tournament, K-State beat Kansas in overtime in the finals, 69-66.

The tight defense and controlled offense of Coach Hank Iba's Oklahoma State crew paid off Monday night at Lawrence, and it was the coach's son, Moe, who clinched the 54-49 decision.

With the Cowboys leading only 50-49 and 34 seconds left, young Iba sank two free throws and Kansas was done, suffering their initial conference defeat after three victories.

33-27 Lead

Oklahoma State, which had lost four in a row, ran up a 33-27 half-time lead on some dead-eye field goal firing. During the second half, Kansas led once 45-44, but nobody but Wayne Hightower could find the range for the Jayhawks. Hightower scored 26 points which was tops for the game.

North Carolina (No. 6) ran up its ninth straight victory for an 11-2 overall mark by downing Maryland 58-52 in an Atlantic Coast Conference tilt. The Tar Heels now boast a 4-0 league mark, right after eighth-ranked Duke (5-0), idle until after mid-term examinations. Doug Moe got 26 points for North Carolina, which scored its final 12 points from the free throw line.

Mississippi State took over undisputed lead in the Southeastern Conference (4-0) by defeating Georgia Tech 62-61 in overtime. State's Jerry Graves came up with six points, four in the final minute of the extra session and totaled 28 for the evening. Roger Kaiser tallied 31 for Georgia Tech.

Second Straight

Vanderbilt, which had an 11-0 record before losing Saturday to Mississippi State, dropped a second straight conference game when Mississippi beat the Commodores 74-72. The teams were tied 11 times before the Rebels took the lead midway in the second half. Jack Waters had 33 points for Mississippi, while Vanderbilt's Bill Depp had 23.

Wake Forest poured it on in the last 10 minutes of an Atlantic Conference game to bury Clemson 86-85, and give the Deacons a 7-1 league mark behind Duke and North Carolina. Len Chappell plunked in 33 points for Wake Forest, while Choppy Patterson had 24 for the losers.

The Citadel, which had been in a 5-1 tie with West Virginia and Virginia Tech for the Southern Conference lead, dropped to second place when Furman defeated the Cadets 92-84. Furman's Jerry Smith (28) and Gerald Glur and Tom Conrad (22 each) did the big damage.

The Texas Longhorns, in a three-way tie with Texas A&M and Texas Tech for the Southwest Conference lead, took over sole possession of first place by downing A&M 81-76. Texas is now 4-1, with Tech 3-1 and A&M 3-2. Carroll Broussard collected 37 points for A&M while Albert Almanza had 23 for Texas.

Grand Opening Of Theater Set Wednesday

Lobby of Appleton
Redecorated; New Sound, Lighting

Three months of work will be finished Wednesday for the grand opening of the redecorated Appleton Theater.

Speakers for the opening at 8 p.m. Wednesday will be Mayor Clarence Mitchell, Harold C. Adams, First National Bank president, and John Conway, Appleton Chamber of Commerce president. The featured movie will be "The Wackiest Ship in the Army," starring Jack Lemmon and Ricky Nelson, Stanley Gross, theater manager, announced.

In addition to the new exterior and redecorated lobby area, the theater will feature new stereophonic sound. Lamp houses in the projection room have been changed for a brighter picture.

New Ticket Window

For the convenience of the theater-goer, the new ticket office, twice the size of the old one, has a window inside in the lobby to be used by customers during bad weather. Four sets of double doors replace the old doors, and only the two on the right can be used for entrance to the theater, to help avoid between showings bottlenecks.

Colors in the tiled front of the theater are carried out in the lobby, with new floor tile and carpeting and plastic textured covering on walls, all in shades of green.

The lobby area also has new thermostatic controls, indirect lighting, and acoustical ceiling.

Refreshment Area

The new refreshment area, done in shades of coral and gray, is three times as large as the former one. Soft drinks and candy machines also are installed in the lobby.

Men's and women's lounges have been enlarged and redecorated, and the women's lounge, done in shades of pink, will have vanity and mirror running the width of the lounge area. The manager's office, formerly in the back of the theater, now is off the lobby.

The major change in the theater area, in addition to new sound and lighting, is installation of new carpeting. Steps to the balcony have separate carpeting on each tread, rather than one continuous carpet.

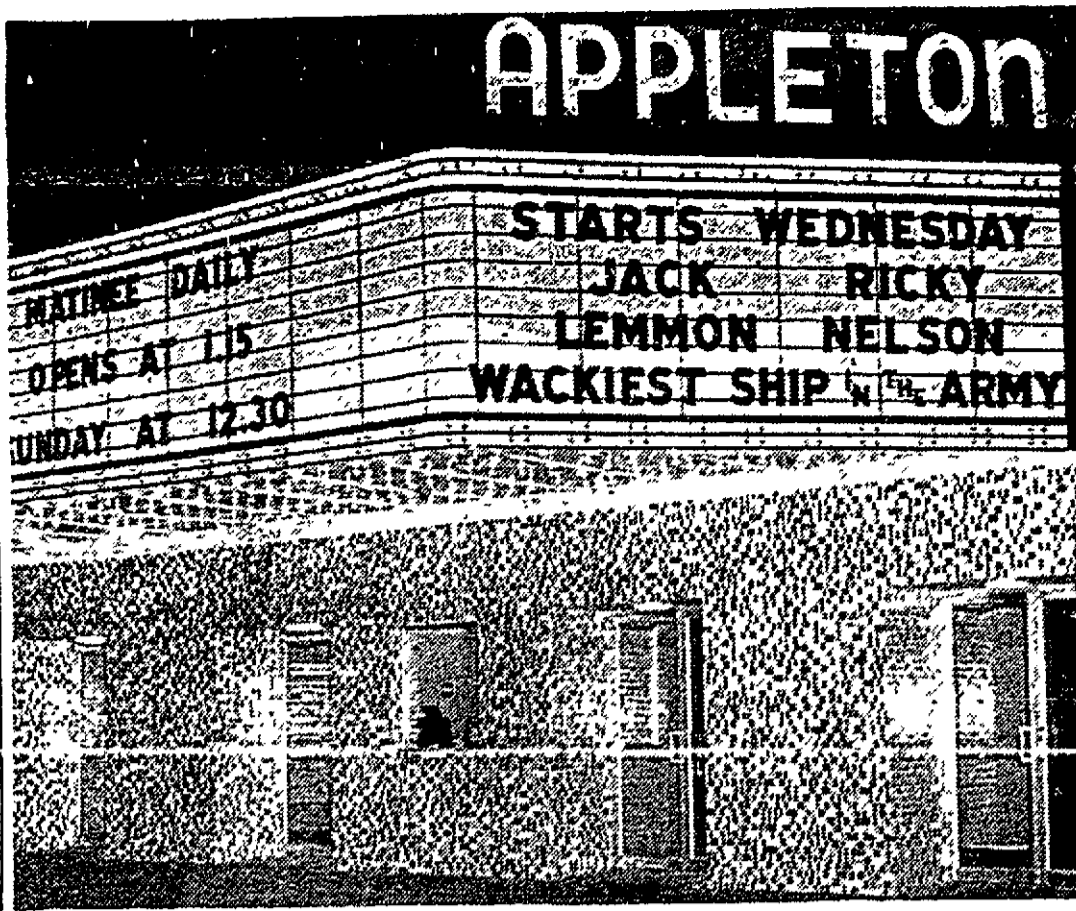

George Narovec was architect for the decorating. Work was started Oct. 19, and the theater was closed Dec. 19 through 24. Afternoon performances were discontinued during November and December.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Everything's coming up you-know-how for Gloria Jean, appearing in her first movie in 10 years.

But the former child singing star isn't giving up her job as hostess at a San Fernando Valley eatery.

Readers of this space will recall a report a few weeks ago that Gloria had taken the job to tide her over until she could get back into the show business she had known most of her life.

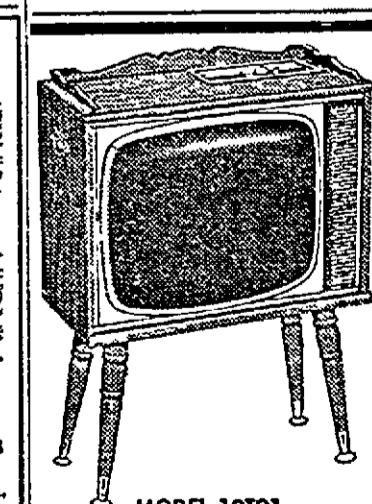

Jerry Lewis happened to read the report. He sent for Gloria. "How would you like to appear in my new movie, 'Ladies Man'?" he asked.

"Why—I'd like nothing better," she answered in amazement.

Conducts Contest For Best College Musical or Revue

NEW-YORK (AP) — A competition to find the best college musical comedy or revue staged in the United States and Canada during the current academic year is being conducted by Broadcast Music, Inc.

A $1,000 prize will be awarded to the composer and lyricist, another $500 to the sponsoring college department.

Judges include Morton Da Costa, Robert Griffith, Harold S. Prince, Robert Fryer, Lawrence Carr, Lehman Engel, Dory Schary, Stephen Sondheim, Sheldon Harnick and Jerry Bock.

William Inge Works On Sixth Play, to Hold Test Tryout in Miami

NEW YORK (AP) — William Inge is working on a sixth play for Broadway — but will have it tested first in Miami.

The drama, "Natural Affection," concerns a young man who tries to reenter the family circle after a sojourn in reform school.

Shelley Winters and Ben Gazzara may participate in the southern tryout. White Way production probably will be next season.

"I wouldn't want to quit," she declared. "But I have cut down to working Saturday nights only while I'm on the picture."

the leads in the new Lewis opus, ending a long career-drought and a series of personal mishaps, including the loss of her fiancé in the Korean War.

"I feel just wonderful," she said. "My only trouble is that I can't get enough sleep. I'm too excited to sleep."

What kind of a part does she have?

"I don't know exactly," she said. "Jerry won't show us the script. We only have the first 40 pages. When we finish shooting that, he'll give us the next 40."

Helen Traubel in Film

The plot has Gloria as one of several dozen career girls living in a Hollywood dormitory with Helen Traubel as house mother. Jerry is a dame-haunted movie star who escapes his career to take a job incognito. Naturally, he ends up at the dorm.

"I'm going to sing a number with Miss Traubel," Gloria added excitedly. "I'm sorry that I've been so busy that I haven't been able to do some lessons. But I've been singing around the house, and the voice is still there."

What else has happened to her? She got her break-in to the acting field again by doing a role on MacDonald Carey's TV series, "Lock-Up."

She has been written up by the two top fan magazines — "First time since I left pictures." Tonight she tapes Ben Alexander's TV show, "About Faces."

Despite all this activity, Gloria hasn't deserted the Tahitian, the studio city spot where she has been hostess.

"I wouldn't want to quit," she declared. "But I have cut down to working Saturday nights only while I'm on the picture."

Ancient Musical Idea Comes to St. Norbert

16th Century Lutheran Church Societies
Ancestors of School's Concert Series Finale

BY JINGO

Tonight at St. Norbert College a musical tradition of four centuries will be observed when George Hunter stages his Collegium Musicum as the final offering of the school's 1960-'61 fine arts concert series.

Hunter, of the University of Illinois, is director of a five-person musical group similar to those that once represented the German middle class answer to the music of the royal and ducal courts which were closed to the public.

Such musical societies operated all over Germany from the 16th Century through the first half of the 18th Century as amateur organizations. In the 1750s professional musicians took up the practice. In 1744 German immigrants brought the Collegium Musicum idea into Pennsylvania.

The musical societies began as social groups in the Lutheran Churches but soon moved into the "pop" field in the 17th Century and thereafter were devoted generally to secular music.

The state radio FM network will start a series on comparative literature at 8 p.m. Jan. 20, planned and narrated by Prof. Hazel Alberson. She calls the 14 one-hour programs "Visions that are Timeless."

John Lupton, who had quite a career as an Indian agent in "Broken Arrow" before "Cochise" Ansara turned in his Apache leadership, will be featured in the "Death Valley Days" show, "South of Horror Flats," on CBS on Feb. 4. It sounds as though it should be quite a ghost story—and true to boot.

One of the overtures Leonard Bernstein used on his first Children's Concert was "Leonore

Confessed Killer Denies Four Charges

Joseph Weicher
Held for Trial
In Green Bay

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — Joseph Weicher Jr., 21-year-old confessed slayer of two men during a robbery of a downtown tavern Jan. 2, faces trial in Circuit Court on two counts of first-degree murder and two of armed robbery.

In Municipal Court this morning Weicher, through his court-appointed lawyer dispensed with a preliminary hearing and denied the four counts.

Weicher asked for circuit court trial on all the charges. First-degree murder charges must go to trial in the higher court, under state law.

Remains Calm
Municipal Judge Donald W. Gleason granted the request and continued bond at $25,000. He said that according to legal procedures, "apparently the crimes were committed and there is reason to believe Joseph F. Weicher is guilty."

Date for the Circuit Court appearance has not been set.

Weicher was silent and calm during the brief proceedings. He said nothing except when his attorney asked if he understood and agreed fully with what was being done.

Then he replied simply, "Yes."

The young man again was returned to the county jail where he has been held since Saturday.

Weicher was on parole from the Wisconsin State Reformatory when arrested in East St. Louis, Ill., in connection with the slayings of Lester Doherty, 38, a tavern operator, and Wilbert Lewis, 48, a patron.

He became a suspect when welfare officials reported that he had been discharged from his farm job and that he was known to have a revolver. Arrested last Tuesday night, Weicher late last Tuesday gave a full confession of the crimes to Green Bay Detective Capt. W. R. Gilsdorf.

The thief pried the metal plate covering the door away from the door itself and lifted off the locking mechanism without triggering the tear gas capsule. ## Little Danger Seen for Crops In Mild Spell

City and rural folk alike have little worry about lawn and field crop survival during this mild winter, Outagamie County Agent John Powers said today.

The only problem of concern at present is wind erosion, Powers said. Flooded fields and lawns seeded in fall have become dry. The wind is picking up loose top soil and blowing it away.

A danger, which may exist if there is no snow cover by spring, is thawing during the warm days and quick freeze as the mercury drops at night. Without snow to act as an insulator and protect surface roots, the continual expansion and contraction of the soil will tear and kill the roots, Powers said.

Another weather danger, not now present, is sheet ice. If there is rain or excessive melting after a light snowfall followed by a quick freeze, alfalfa may die. The water turns to sheet ice in low spots and depressions and freezes out the plants.

Correction

The Outagamie County Council for Retarded Children, Inc., will meet at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday at Hortonville Elementary School, not Tuesday as reported in Saturday's Post-Crescent.

Two Guilty of Topsy Driving

New London Man
Forfeits $118.95;
Oshkosh Man Fined

One man forfeited a bond of $118.95 and another was fined $150 for drunken driving. Both lost their drivers' licenses for a year.

Robert Lee Baldwin, 35, 905 W. Beacon St., New London, forfeited $118.95 and lost his driving privileges for one year when he failed to appear in Municipal court today.

Baldwin was arrested Jan. 15 by state police on Highway 45, one half mile west of County Trunk T, after he was seen driving erratically. He tested .20 on the drunkometer. A test of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

Max A. Blansette, 35, 172 W. 21st Ave., Oshkosh, was fined $150 and costs by Judge Arnold J. Cane when he pleaded guilty on arraignment in Oshkosh Municipal Court Monday.

Blansette was arrested by Oshkosh police after his car and one driven by Bradley L. Bowen, 23, 1336 Minnesota Ave., Oshkosh, collided on W. 21st Avenue at 8:50 p.m. Saturday. Blansette tested .19 on the drunkometer. A reading of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

A passenger in the Bowen car, Carlyle F. Gauger, 22, 721 Vine Ave., Oshkosh, was taken to Mercy Hospital for examination.

Lewis Advises Colleges With Science Plans

Harry F. Lewis, vice president of The Institute of Paper Chemistry and chairman of the National Research Council committee on design, construction and equipment of laboratories, has returned from a trip to the Chicago area where he conferred with college officials planning new science buildings.

The National Research Council committee is preparing a book, "Laboratory Planning," to help laboratory directors, chemistry and chemical engineering teachers, and their architects and engineers, with planning new research and testing facilities.

Lewis was on the National Research Council committee which prepared an earlier volume on "Laboratory Design," published in 1951.

Site on Bennett, Kamps Offered to Appleton For New Fire Station

A site on the southwest corner of W. Kamps Avenue and N. Bennett Street has been offered to the city of Appleton as a site for the proposed northwest fire station.

The site was offered at $34,500 by Ervin Koehnke, the owner, through Justin F. Tillman, broker. It is an irregularly shaped piece of land with about 225 feet along Kamps and 158 feet along Bennett.

Blasted out of solid rock, this Butane storage cavern is located 432 feet straight down beneath Shell's refinery in Wood River, Illinois. Some 230,000 tons of limestone were removed to clear a total area that's larger than two football fields—and holds 22 million gallons. Storage space consists of many corridors, each as high and wide as a good-sized suburban house, and many times as long.

BULLETIN:

40 stories down, in caverns no tourist will ever see, lies the secret of the quicker starts you get with today's Super Shell—the gasoline for top performance

The 9 ingredients in today's Super Shell are specially blended every season to give you top performance in any weather.

While colder, harder-starting mornings are here, today's Super Shell is primed with extra Butane—an ingredient so volatile it has to be stored under pressure all summer to stop it from vaporizing by itself.

Think what this high volatility means on cold days. Faster firing. A big strain off your battery. And an even bigger one off your patience.

IT TAKES millions of gallons of Butane to give today's Super Shell its nationwide reputation for quick winter starts.

But you might wonder why Shell goes to so much trouble to store this quick-start ingredient underground. Here's why.

Butane is stored as a liquid. But it is so eager to vaporize that it has to be kept under pressure. This can be done in tanks of course. But Shell's refinery experts decided that a cavern would be safer and more economical. They didn't have a cavern handy. So they built one.

It was no mean task. For instance, the whole cavern had to be leakproof, airtight—and had to have the smallest possible opening (see cut) that could take men and machinery. This tiny entrance posed quite a problem when it came to getting a bulldozer down. But our "spelunkers" simply cut up the bulldozer to fit the hole.

Only link to surface was pipe 42" wide, 40 stories deep. Hefty equipment was dismantled, lowered and reassembled on the cavern floor.

The very thing that makes Butane a problem to store makes it work wonders in stone cold engines.

Low temperatures make ordinary gasoline reluctant to fire. But when you add Butane, volatility increases dramatically and even the coldest engine finds it easier to start.

That's why an extra dose of Butane is added to today's Super Shell whenever the weather is likely to be wintry. It takes a strain off your engine, your battery and your patience.

Butane has hot-weather benefits, too—an odd little paradox

Shell's refining experts always add a certain amount of Butane to Super Shell—even in mid-summer. This may sound paradoxical. But it isn't.

Volatile Butane also happens to have an unusual anti-knock value at high temperatures. So this winter-start ingredient has a summer benefit, too. It helps to smooth out your car's performance just as much in June as it does in January.

Now that you know about Butane, why not take a couple of extra minutes and learn about the eight other ingredients in today's Super Shell? It's essential reading if you want to know the secret of top performance.

Ingredient #2 is TCP for power, mileage and longer plug-life

Super Shell now contains an even better version of this famous additive. Its chemical name is cresyl-diphenyl-phosphate.

*TCP* additive can give your car up to 15 per cent more power; up to 17 extra miles per tankful; and can make plugs last up to twice as long.*

New TCP does this by neutralizing certain harmful effects of combustion deposits. It is scientifically formulated to keep them from glowing when hot—a major cause of power loss. Also to keep them from diverting your spark—a major cause of "missing."

Ingredient #3 is "cat-cracked" gasoline for power with a purr

This is petroleum that has actually cracked under 900-degree heat and catalytic action. Its heavier molecules have been shattered into livelier, lighter ones.

The result is a super-octane ingredient that makes your engine purr with power the moment you put your foot down.

NOTE: "Cat-cracking" refers to the use of a catalyst—the mysterious substance that can alter molecules without changing itself.

Ingredient #4 is Alkylate, noted for knock control in hot engines

Jimmy Doolittle helped pioneer this outstanding high-octane ingredient for Shell aviation fuel.

Alkylate—the ingredient that took the dream of 100-octane gasoline out of the lab and put it into the skies—is now in Super Shell. It controls knocking in hot engines at high speeds better than anything else yet available.

NOTE: Speaking of controlling knocks at high speeds, remember that car engines frequently turn even faster than the engines of a DC-7.

Ingredient #5 is anti-knock mix for extra resistance to knocks

You might think that two high-octane ingredients are enough for knock-free performance. But Shell's scientists have ears like musicians.

They insist on adding a special anti-knock mix. A mix, so effective, one teaspoon per gallon can boost anti-knock rating by five points.

This mix has the tricky job of regulating combustion so that Super Shell gives each piston a firm, even push—rather than a sharp blow which would cause a knock.

Ingredient #6 is Pentane mix for fast warm-ups on cold days.

Pentanes are made by tearing gasoline apart, much as you split kindling to start a log fire.

In this case, the "logs" are petroleum's heavier hydrocarbons. A special process transforms their molecules from slow-burning "logs" into the quicker-firing "kindling."

NET RESULT: Fast warm-up and top performance in a hurry.

Carburetor icing causes stalling. Arrow shows where ice can form on your throttle plate. Shell anticipates this problem. See below.

Ingredient #7 is an "anti-icer" to check cold-weather stalling

Super Shell's formula is adjusted as often as eight times a year to beat the weather. For example, whenever the temperature is likely to be less than forty-five degrees, a carburetor anti-icer is added.

Why add anti-icer at forty-five degrees? Because, even then, frost can form in your carburetor just as it does in your refrigerator. It can choke your engine dead.

Ingredient #8 is gum preventive to keep carburetors clean inside

Even the purest gasoline can form gum when stored. This can clog carburetors and foul automatic chokes. But, with Super Shell, you needn't worry. A special gum preventive does the trick.

It acts like a policeman controlling a mob. Regulates unstable elements to help keep them from clotting. Hence no gum problem.

Ingredient #9 is Platformate for extra energy, more mileage

It takes eight million dollars' worth of platinum catalyst for Shell to produce Platformate. But fortunately for you and for us, this precious stuff can be used over and over again.

The platinum re-forming process, which gives Platformate its odd name, converts petroleum into super-energy components—such as benzene, xylene and toluene.

These three alone release 11 per cent more energy per gallon than the finest 100-octane gasoline.

But make no mistake. This is not untamed energy. Far from it. The super-energy of Platformate is harnessed by the eight other ingredients in Super Shell, where it behaves so well you scarcely know it's there. That is until you note your extra mileage. After that, there is no doubt.

Test Super Shell for yourself

Try Super Shell next time you fill up. You'll soon feel and hear a difference in the way your engine runs.

That difference is top performance.
